

Sues for Damages To Fishing Nets In Hudson River

Highland Fishermen Claim Their Shad Fishing Nets Were Damaged and Their Season's Business Reduced When a Boat Ran Into Their Nets.

Two actions for damage to fishing nets were tried together Thursday in the Supreme court. Richard Bilyou and James J. Relyea, fishermen of Highland, seek to recover damages from the Standard Transportation Corporation for alleged damages to their shad fishing nets which they allege were damaged on May 14 or 15, 1925, when a boat of the defendant ran into and sank their nets. In addition to recovering the value of the nets, they also seek to recover for loss of business following the damage to the nets, claiming that at that season of the year it was impossible to secure another net in time to continue fishing before the season closed.

Plaintiffs allege that during the afternoon of the day in question they had gone out on the river north of the Poughkeepsie bridge, some three miles and placed their nets in the water. It was Friday and they had to have their nets out by sundown under the law. Shortly after 5 o'clock they started to take in the nets. Bilyou was up stream from Relyea. Shortly after they started to take in the nets, the Schenectady, a power barge, towing another barge known as the Socony No. 10, passed under the Poughkeepsie bridge and continued north. At that time the tide was on the flood and the nets of both fishermen were practically north and south up and down the river. The upper end of the nets, however, had been carried by the tide somewhat toward the east shore.

Claims Barge Disregarded Signals. Relyea's son, who was rowing, called the attention of his father to the barge coming. Mr. Relyea, who was standing in the stern of the boat taking in a net, hailed the barge and waved them toward the eastern shore around his net. He claims that the barge came on and failing to alter the course ran over the net. Both nets were carried to the bottom and were badly damaged by coming in contact with the clinders and trunks on the bottom of the river. The floats which were on the nets were torn loose and the nets damaged so that much was beyond repair. The nets were 2,000 feet long and three of the 500 foot sections of the Bilyou net was damaged and three of the sections of the net were damaged beyond repair.

Both plaintiffs testified that their nets were plainly marked with white floats and buoys at each end. Season's Catches Were Reduced. Mr. Bilyou secured one section of net and used that in connection with the one section of his net which remained undamaged. Mr. Relyea made repairs to a portion of his net and used that in connection with the undamaged portion but both claim their catches were very materially reduced following the accident and until the end of the fishing season. Both testified that it was impossible to secure a new net as they had to be made to order and that took a couple of months.

Figures were given to show the catch of shad before the accident and when the men were using their regular equipment and also figures to show the catch after the accident when they were using a smaller net. They testified their catches had been reduced from 50 to 60 shad a day to less than a dozen. They also testified to the weight of buck and roe shad and the average price and also the proportionate amount of buck and roe caught.

Bilyou and his brother testified to seeing the boats come up the river and of attempting to signal them to avoid the nets. They were positive in their identification of the boats but were not sure as to the date although they were sure it was on a Friday.

A. W. Lent appeared for the plaintiffs and John W. Eckert for the defendant corporation.

Defense Denies Damage. The power boat Schenectady of the Standard Transportation Corporation was not on the Hudson river for several days prior to or after it is alleged it ran over and destroyed the nets of Bilyou and Relyea at Highland in the month of May, 1925, as the plaintiffs testified.

Bilyou and Relyea allege that the Schenectady with the barge Socony No. 10 in tow ran over and damaged their fishing nets. Between May 14 and 15 the power boat Security did pass over the river with the Socony No. 10 in tow, according to the master of the Security. However, the master and his mate both allege they never ran over any nets near Highland and that the boat did not damage the nets as alleged.

Defendants claimed the Security bound north passed Highland with the Socony No. 10 and No. 114 in tow for Albany on or about the date of the alleged accident and after discharging a cargo at Albany returned to New York.

Uncertain About Date. Plaintiffs allege in their complaint that the accident happened on or about May 17 but later in a bill of particulars they allege the accident happened on May 14 between 2 and 5 o'clock. In a letter sent by Mr. Lent to the defendant company he

Election Officials Get Instructions

Explanation of Their Duties in Connection With Use of Voting Machines Given—Operation of Machines Explained.

Instructions relative to their duties on election day when the voting machine will be utilized, were given to election inspectors Wednesday and Thursday nights at the court house.

Mark Sampson, chief clerk of the board of elections, presided, and briefly spoke regarding the initial employment of the machines. He declared that before any certificates could be issued to an inspector he must first qualify by using the voting machine keys which are necessary to lock and unlock the machine before and after the polls close.

Roy Gustavson, a representative of the Automatic Registering Machine Company, manufacturers of the voting machines, gave an explanation for each of the duties that the inspectors must discharge before the polls open, during the voting, and after the polls close. At the conclusion of the meeting, the assemblage was divided into two squads and each inspector briefly explained the duties, and also used the keys as he will do on election day. George W. Lacey and Gus Bunse, who have been named as custodians of the machines, assisted in schooling the inspectors. Mr. Lacey and Mr. Bunse will aid in the preparation of the machines and on election day will be stationed at a central location where they may be called in the event of any trouble. The board of elections, however, does not anticipate any difficulty as it will be very careful in the arrangement of the machines.

Directions for Voting. To vote on the machine, the voter simply pulls the red curtain lever at the top of the machine to the right which operation, unlocks the machine for voting and closes the curtain about the voter. The voter then turns down pointers over the candidates name for whom he desires to vote and leaves them DOWN. He swings the curtain lever back to the left side, which registers the vote; restores the voting pointers and opens the curtain and the machine is arranged for the next voter.

To vote a "straight ticket" all the voter needs to do is to turn down each individual pointer over the candidate's names of his selected party and leave them down. As long as a voter is in the curtain booth he may change his vote as many times as he wishes as the vote is not recorded until the curtain is moved to the left side of the machine, which movement will register the vote and restore the pointers, and allow the voter to make his egress.

Machines have been placed in each of the polling places, and voters are urged to acquaint themselves with the procedure of voting. The time allowed by law for each voter in voting is three minutes, but the average voter consumes about thirty seconds to cast his ballot on the machine. Figures were given to show the catch of shad before the accident and when the men were using their regular equipment and also figures to show the catch after the accident when they were using a smaller net. They testified their catches had been reduced from 50 to 60 shad a day to less than a dozen. They also testified to the weight of buck and roe shad and the average price and also the proportionate amount of buck and roe caught.

Bilyou and his brother testified to seeing the boats come up the river and of attempting to signal them to avoid the nets. They were positive in their identification of the boats but were not sure as to the date although they were sure it was on a Friday.

A. W. Lent appeared for the plaintiffs and John W. Eckert for the defendant corporation.

Defense Denies Damage. The power boat Schenectady of the Standard Transportation Corporation was not on the Hudson river for several days prior to or after it is alleged it ran over and destroyed the nets of Bilyou and Relyea at Highland in the month of May, 1925, as the plaintiffs testified.

Princess Ileana Reported Elopement

With an Obscure Naval Lieutenant of Her Own Country—Rumor Has Social and Governmental Circles in Bucharest by the Rens.

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—Princess Ileana, slender blue eyed 18-year-old daughter of Dowager Queen Marie of Rumania, is reported to have thrown over prospects of marriage with the Prince of Wales, King Boris of Bulgaria or some other member of royal family to elope with an obscure naval lieutenant of her own country.

Despatches to the Westminster Gazette of London and the New York Evening Post say the rumor has social and governmental circles in Bucharest by the ears and that the royal household has issued a decree forbidding the Rumanian newspapers from printing accounts of "journey of any member of the royal family." Ileana has been missing for some days from her usual haunts, the despatch to the Post said, and was thought to be on a yacht in the Black Sea. She is said to have become acquainted with the naval lieutenant when he was aide de camp to her father, the late King Ferdinand.

The young officer, described as handsome and of courtly manner, did not find his duties about the palace exacting, the despatch added, and improved his time by cultivating Ileana, succeeding to the extent of winning her hand. The government did its utmost to prevent their elopement, becoming known, but it finally leaked out. Only about three weeks ago the Princess was reported to have been rescued from a storm in the Black Sea which overtook a small boat in which she had gone for a moonlight sail. The party on the sailboat was taken off by a passing steamer.

Ileana, youngest daughter of the queen's American tour last year before the fatal illness of Ferdinand. She created a favorable impression by her democratic bearing, and was popular with those of the younger set with whom she came in contact.

The princess has attained her majority under Rumanian law, and was duly declared "emancipated" this year by decree of the Rumanian regency council, thus enabling her to receive and manage that portion of the royal estate left her by Ferdinand.

New Outbreak In Mexico

Rebel Victory Reported Short Lived—Search for American Casualties Along International Border.

Nogales, Ariz., Oct. 14 (AP)—A new outbreak of rebellion in Mexico started officials along the international borders today to investigate whether there had been any American casualties in the fighting near Guadalupe, Jalisco. Semi-official reports reaching here last night declared there had been fierce fighting between rebels under Generals Leon Sanchez and Antonio de Gollado and federal forces commanded by General Francisco Flores. Apparently there were two engagements. In the first place the rebels who are said to have outnumbered the federal troops, won the fight encounter at a cost of 50 dead while the loyal troops counted only 18 killed. The insurgents were reported to have been in the second and more decisive engagement.

The rebel victory in yesterday's fighting occurred at Lake Chapala, just a few miles from Guadalajara. From there the insurgents advanced upon the small farming town of San Nicolas and looted it. Marching upon the nearby town of Soyotlan, the rebels not only pillaged it but tore down and set flames to the buildings in retaliation for the resistance to the attack made by the townspeople. The rebel victory was short lived, for a short distance from Soyotlan the federals, reinforced by a number of the members of the agrarian party, re-engaged them. The rebels fled to the Sierra del Tigre. Many were said to have been killed, wounded or captured.

"Marrying Parson" Fined. Elkton, Md., Oct. 14 (AP)—Richard T. Western, detested "marrying parson" here, today was found guilty by the Cecil county circuit court of performing a marriage ceremony without authority and fined $500 and costs. Joshua Clayton, his attorney, intimated he would place the case before the Maryland court of appeals.

Business Certificate Filed. There has been filed at the office of the Ulster county clerk a certificate by Arlington H. Mallory of Woodstock that he is conducting a business under the name and style: Hudson Valley Bridge Company.

Paid Two Census Employees for No Substantial Work

Chief Clerk Also States That Supervisors Were Paid in Advance and That Important Clerks Were Not Allowed to Cooperate.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—Testimony that two census employees had been paid between $500 and $900 each although they did no substantial work, that supervisors and assistant supervisors had been paid in advance, and that two important clerks in the secretary of state's office were not allowed to cooperate in keeping track of census fund expenditures was heard today by Randall J. Le Boeuf, Jr., of Albany, who at the direction of Governor Smith is investigating the conduct of the 1925 state enumeration by Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp.

Miss Julia M. Ryan, chief clerk of the Civil Service Commission told the Moreland act commissioner that she had approved improperly pay checks for her sister, Rose Ryan, and for Veronica Mahor.

The former's remuneration, amounting to $500, was sanctioned by the witness, she said, although Rose Ryan did no work in connection with the census. Asked whether she knew of any substantial work done by Veronica Mahor, Miss Ryan replied in the negative.

Had Not Been Authorized. The witness said she "thought" she had had authority from the commission to pay supervisors and assistant supervisors in 1925 lump sums representing the balance of their year's salaries, although she testified that no member of the commission had directed her to authorize the payments.

Miss Anna Little, whose clerkship in the secretary of state's office covers the supervision of various accounts expended through that office, said that Mrs. Knapp had ordered her not to "have anything to do with that work" so far as the census was concerned. Miss Little also declared that she was not permitted to cooperate with Mark Stern, first deputy secretary of state, in accounting for the census fund. The work was divided between them, the witness, said, so that neither would know what the other was doing.

Miss Little also asserted that some of the traveling accounts of the census supervisors were "pretty big."

Calls Chief Clerk. Calling Miss Julia M. Ryan, chief clerk of the Civil Service Commission as the first witness at the second day's Moreland act hearing, Mr. Le Boeuf brought out that Miss Ryan, who is in charge of payroll division, had no record with which she checked the amounts census enumerators were to receive.

"And you blindly approved them without any list of names to check with, commissioner," Le Boeuf asked. "Yes," answered Miss Ryan. "So in that case you had no authority on which to base your approval except the signature of the secretary of state?"

Mr. Le Boeuf brought out that regular employees are catalogued in one index in the commission offices and that temporary workers are listed in a special index. The latter's made under the record of payments which the compensation is not to exceed $300.

Thought She Had Authority. Le Boeuf then took up the question of payments to census supervisors and assistant supervisors in lump sums, bringing out that various persons had received in August, 1925, the balance of year's salaries due them.

"You had no authority in the way of a resolution by the commission to approve such payments," he asked the witness.

"I thought I had," she answered, adding that she had not checked them personally. "But you signed them and they were checked under your supervision?"

"Yes," said Miss Ryan. "And the situation was not called to the attention of the commission until 1926," continued Le Boeuf. "Did any member of the commission direct you to sign them?"

"If a regular employee had been on such a payroll calling for a lump sum balance of a year's salary would you have approved it?"

"I don't know," said Miss Ryan. "Wouldn't you check up to see that the payroll of a regular employee contained just one-twenty-fourth of a year's salary?"

"Yes."

"But you did not do it in the case of supervisors and assistant supervisors of the census?" asked the commissioner. "How did you get such information if you had to have it?"

"I would have to go to the comptroller's office," said Miss Little. Called Mrs. Knapp's Attention. "Did you call to the attention of" (Continued on Page Twenty-two.)

Postpone Flight To Copenhagen

Because of Reports of Storms at Sea—Crew Expressed Disappointment at the New Delay.

MRS. GRAYSON.

Old Orchard, Me., Oct. 14 (AP)—In spite of perfect weather here Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson and her two companions postponed the start of their flight to Copenhagen today because of reports of storms at sea. It appeared probable that they could not hop off before 11 a. m. tomorrow, when low tide will make conditions favorable for the run along the beach. Mrs. Grayson, with Wilmer Stutz, pilot, and Brice Goldsborough, navigator and radio operator, expressed disappointment at the new delay. They inspected their plane, the Dawn, carefully for assurances that it escaped damage in the storm which swept the beach yesterday.

No News of Nungesser-Coli

Dakar, Senegal, Oct. 14 (AP)—No news of the airplane Nungesser-Coli since its departure from St. Louis has been received here up to 2:45 p. m. despite calls by radio stations along the coast.

Before taking off, Dieudonne Costes agreed to send a message on each even hour. It was presumed that his radio equipment got out of order.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE DRIVE FOR $50,000

St. Louis, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Anti-Saloon League of Missouri has launched a campaign to obtain not less than $50,000, to be used in organizing the state "against the possibility of Governor Al Smith, Senator James Reed, or any other presidential candidates of same attitude toward prohibition carrying the state." It was announced today. The drive will be known as the "Wayne B. Wheeler Memorial Campaign." The campaign was inaugurated, Parker Shields, state superintendent declared, to offset the $40,000 raised by the association against the prohibition amendment to assist in bringing about election of anti-prohibition candidates for state and national offices.

JUDGE RESPONDS TO FIRE ALARM AND IS INJURED

Exeter, N. H., Oct. 14 (AP)—Because the clang of a fire alarm still possesses as much attraction for Judge Henry A. Shute of Exeter, widely known writer of boy stories, as it ever had for "Pip" and the other characters in his books, the judge is today in the Exeter Hospital suffering from injuries he received when he responded to an alarm near his home. Judge Shute, now 71 years old, ran out when an alarm sounded this morning. As he stood on a corner near his house watching the fire apparatus he was caught by a hook and ladder truck and knocked against another car. One leg was injured, his face was cut and he was badly shaken and bruised.

Favorable Balance of Trade. Washington, Oct. 14 (AP)—September exports from the United States amounted to $426,000,000 offset by imports of $241,000,000 leaving a favorable balance of trade for the month of $85,000,000.

Crew of American Girl Proceeding to the Azores

Ruth Elder and George Haldeman Safe On Rescuing Steamer—Plane a Burned Wreck in Ocean's Depths—New Over-Water Distance Flying Record Established.

By the Associated Press. The American transatlantic plane American Girl was a burned wreck in the ocean's depths today while its crew, Ruth Elder and George Haldeman, were safely proceeding to the Azores on a rescuing steamer.

Another American plane the Dawn, awaited favorable conditions to hop off from Old Orchard, Me., for Denmark. The Dawn's crew includes Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson and two men.

Three European planes were in the air on various stages of flights which, if successful, will eventually take them all across the Atlantic.

The European planes were the Nungesser-Coli in which the Frenchmen Costes and LeBrix hopped off from Africa for South America, the Junkers D-1230 with Frederick Loose which left Portugal for the United States via the Azores, and the Heinkel D-1220 which took off from Germany for Holland on a preliminary leg of a similar flight.

New Record Established. New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—A new over-water distance flying record was established by Ruth Elder and Captain George Haldeman before they were forced down in the Atlantic on their attempted flights to Paris. It was the longest flight ever made by a woman.

The previous record for over-ocean flying, made by Lieutenants Mailand and Hegeberger in their jump from San Francisco to Honolulu was 2,435 miles. Completion of the flight of the American Girl makes its distance about 2,600 miles.

As figured by Lieut. Earl H. Kincaid of the navy hydrographic office for the New York Times, the American Girl flew 2,623 miles. Computations by H. Armand de Masi, telegraph editor and aviation expert of the New York Daily News, are that the distance was 2,625 miles. Masi figures the plane landed 1,203 miles south of Paris, its objective. While apparently had driven the American Girl far off the course it chartered over the New York-Paris steamship line 450 miles to the northward.

Expected at Horta Tomorrow. Horta, Island of Fayal, Azores, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Dutch steamship Barndrecht, with Miss Ruth Elder and George W. Haldeman aboard, is progressing toward Horta and is expected here tomorrow. A sharp watch for the vessel is being maintained.

Nation-wide Fraise. New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—Leaders in aviation joined today in the nation-wide praise of Ruth Elder and Captain George W. Haldeman, survivors of the attempted flight of the American Girl from New York to Paris.

Clarence D. Chamberlin, New York to Germany flier, said: "It was a remarkable flight considering the time of year. The girl had good nerve and George Haldeman deserves immense credit for accomplishing what he did."

Gluseppe M. Bellanca, airplane designer, declared: "This flight is more important than those that followed the first flight, because it was over a course new to airplanes. It may turn out to be very important in the knowledge that it may give us of flying conditions over the southern route."

Grover Loening, designer of the planes used by the American-Pan-America good will fliers, said Miss Elder "deserves great credit for her courage and for sticking to the job she had set out to accomplish."

Bravest Girl in the World. Panama, Oct. 14 (AP)—Lyle Womack, husband of Ruth Elder, believes his wife is "the bravest girl in the world."

"I am sorry Ruth failed to make Paris," he said after receiving word of her rescue at sea. "It must have been a keen disappointment to her, but that is nothing to me—the main thing is, she is safe."

"If Ruth had been in her coffin and had suddenly revived and embraced me, my relief could be no greater than it is now. I could not be happier than in anticipation of being reunited soon with the bravest girl in the world."

He said he was not decided as to whether he would oppose further trying by his wife, saying: "This depends on many things. Her own wishes must be considered. I admire her determination to make a fight for the fame in it, which would enable her to care for her parents more adequately."

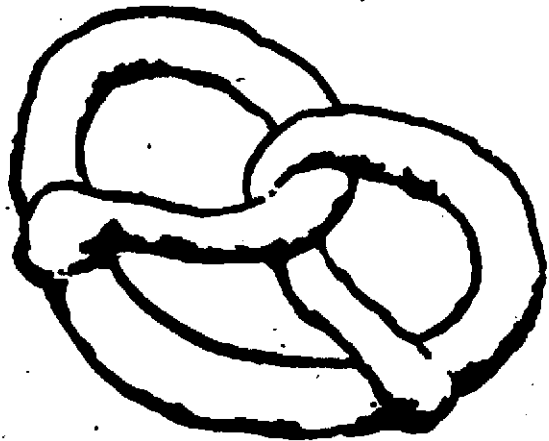

Declares Ruth Very Faithful. New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—Ruth Elder may be a heroine to millions today but to some American women she was "very foolish" to risk her life in the transatlantic flight and of "much less service to humanity than a good nurse."

"Mr. Pretzeleer is busy in conference"

Very, very high pressure executives make it a rule to pretzel at least once every afternoon. They find that biting out letters rests their 90 H. P. brains. Try it. Lock the doors. Send out word you're in conference and start biting. A good word to bite is because it helps make you believe you are—busy, at least, being a pretzeleer.

It was a pretzeleer who invented the word toothsome. He was thinking of the fine hearty salty flavor that comes free with every O-So-Gud. And the crispness and brittleness. To say nothing of the crunchiness.

The more you pretzel with O-So-Guds the better you like it. Pretzel before going to bed. With soup, salad, dessert. When you drink ginger ale. If the youngsters will eat between meals there's nothing better than a knotty but nice pretzel. . . . And you don't have to worry about digesting them. That's easy.

SMALL BOY COMES OUT UNHURT AFTER VOYAGE IN SEWER

New York Youngster Is Washed Out Alive Into the East River.

New York.—A seven-year-old boy fell into an open manhole in a building on the East side, was carried more than half a mile through the city's sewers and was washed out alive into the East river, where he was rescued by firemen and police.

"It was dark and cold in there, though," the boy remarked as he informed his rescuers he was not injured. He was taken to Bellevue hospital for treatment for submersion and a few minor scratches received when he was tossed against the sides of the sewer.

Carried Off by Current.

The boy, Anthony D'Agostino, and a number of playmates, were in the excavation in Fifty-third street throwing stones into the open manhole when Anthony fell into the sewer. His companions gave the alarm and the 45-minute search by police and firemen drew such a crowd that police reserves were called out.

Efforts of workmen to reach the boy through the manhole failed, as the swift current of the four feet of sewer water had carried him away from that point.

Firemen were lowered into manholes along the line of the sewer, but in each case they were too late to reach the boy.

Finally Reaches River.

Other firemen obtained a life boat and watched the sewer outlet in the East river. Manhole covers along Fifty-third street and Second avenue were opened and firemen lowered with ropes and flashlights. But each time the rescuers were too late, Tony had already shot by. Rescuers finally gathered about the sewer outlet on East river to await the arrival of the boy.

Minutes passed. Tony had been in the sewer waters 20 minutes and hope of his rescue alive began to ebb. Suddenly from the outlet from which three or four feet of water rushed, came a mud-covered body which began to kick and squirm as it struck the river. Several firemen jumped into the water and hauled the boy into a boat.

Chaining and Prayer as Cure for Lunacy

Samarkand, Turkestan. — Acting upon "medical" advice given by an "Ishan," or holy person, Kassil Ad-dujaili, a true Moslem, chained his son in a cellar for over a month to cure him of lunacy of which he was suspected because he beat his wife.

The "cure" consisted of short rations and occasional visits by the "Ishan," who prayed for the victim's recovery. In lieu of a money fee for his services, the "Ishan" required Ad-dujaili to work in his fields. The chained man was eventually rescued by natives who chanced to hear his groans.

Mexico, Mo.—When a mother who conducted a "doll rack" at a carnival company showing here, saw Mr. and Mrs. Jim Webb of this city admiring her two-year-old daughter, she gave them the baby. But when the police heard of the unusual "gift," they instructed the woman that her daughter was not a chattel, and forced her to secure the child's return.

THE CITY'S BUSINESS.

The coming election is of special importance to the taxpayers and voters of the city of Kingston. Without having the name, the business of conducting the affairs of the city of Kingston is practically done by a city manager who is elected directly by the voters and whose title is mayor. So, divested of all political and partisan feeling or prejudice, the task awaiting the citizens of Kingston is the hiring of a manager for the business of supervising the operation of the city's business affairs. To qualify for the position, a man need not be a lawyer, an engineer, or a specialist of any kind. The mayor has the selection of specialists in his power and he should be able and fearless in making his selections. He should be familiar with the ways of business and with the meaning of figures, in order that he may intelligently hold his appointments strictly responsible for the faithful performance of their several tasks.

Mayor Edgar J. Dempsey fully qualifies to meet these exacting demands. This assertion is not based on theory, but on actual performance. Elected alderman at large, he faithfully and with efficiency and intelligence performed the duties of that office. He placed his civic duties ahead of all others and evaded no neglected none of the tasks incident to holding a very meagerly paid public office. By the death of Mayor Block Mr. Dempsey had the responsibilities of the office of mayor thrust suddenly upon him. He did not develop a swelled head and attempt to revolutionize the city government. He did not devote his energies to grabbing spoils for his friends. He carried on the business of the city along the lines so ably set by his predecessor, improving or amending only as changed conditions imperatively demanded.

As mayor, Mr. Dempsey has been as devoted to the interests of the city and to conducting its business in a businesslike manner as he was when alderman at large. Working without pay, and on tasks at first unfamiliar, he has shown efficiency and a broad-minded grasp of ideas and methods that have given him the confidence of all thinking citizens. Mayor Dempsey's appointments speak for themselves and prove that it is the true interest of the city rather than political expediency or temporary popularity that has swayed him in making his selections. Fitness, rather than popularity, has been the thing considered, just as any business man in selecting his trusted subordinates would be governed by the ability rather than the popularity of those he selected for positions of trust.

If the thinking voters of Kingston want to continue to have the city's business conducted by competent persons, appointed and supervised by a man who has never neglected a duty and who is fully able to select subordinates who are efficient, they will roll up such a majority for Edgar J. Dempsey for mayor that all records will be broken. This matter of hiring a man to head the city's business affairs is a serious one and the voters should give it the consideration it deserves. If they do so there can be no doubt as to the result.

COURSES "IN RELIGION."

Alarm seems to have been caused among educators as well as among the clergy by the showings that most of the present-day crimes are committed by very young persons, many of them mere boys, such startling revelations seeming to point to the fact that a generation has been growing up without any moral or religious training. It was stated some time since that in order to meet a recognized need it was planned, in the revision of the curriculum of the New York public schools, to "make a place for those habit-forming precepts and practices which lead to the righteous development of the individual and the protection of society." Now we read that "because young people are not receiving religious training in the home, they are looking to the universities to supply it," and accordingly Columbia University will have 42 courses "in religion" this college year.

The only courses named in the news article are "Buddhism," "Religious Aspect of Chinese Thought" and "The Sacred Books of Asia"—suggesting mere critical examination of non-Christian faiths rather than the inculcation of moral precepts. There is no mention of a study of the Bible, even as literature, let alone as a means of forming the right habits from moral training. However, vespers services are to be held in the chapel every Sunday afternoon and there are to be chapel services every day at noon. Certainly it is significant that even in university circles there is recognition that something has been lacking and impulse toward effort to meet unquestionable need.

Miss Margaret Beavan, a woman locally famed for many good works, has been elected Lord Mayor of Liverpool and, according to the cable dispatch, she is England's "first woman Lord Mayor". A woman may be elected to the office of mayor, but can even a majority of votes make her a "lord"? It appears that the title of the wife of a Lord Mayor is Lady Mayoress. Will they call Miss Beavan Lady Mayor, or temporarily emasculate both "mayor" and "lord"?

The two gypsy women arrested for telling fortunes in Wall street might well have complained that they were doing on a small scale only what is constantly done on a large scale in and about that famous thoroughfare—the giving of uncertain "tips" on the market, to which the police discreetly turn a blind eye.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

James W. Bartor, M.D.
 (Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)
 PULSE AND TEMPERATURE.

That a clinical thermometer for taking the temperature of the body is a useful article to have about the house must be admitted, but that it can lead the amateur or home nurse astray as to the patient's actual condition must also be admitted.

If the temperature is 97° F. in the morning and 99° at 5 p. m., that is a difference of two degrees. It is considered within normal limits. Perhaps the average temperature in normal individuals would be found to be 97½ in the morning and 98½ at night.

Now a little rise in temperature in children, say up to 100° F., in the majority of cases is due to a slight intestinal disturbance, and usually means nothing. Mothers should not let this distract them, although it is wise, of course, to keep the child under observation. However, that the thermometer does not tell all the story is something that nurses and parents should try to remember.

As you know, in most acute illnesses, for every degree of temperature the pulse goes up ten beats, so that in a person with a heart rate of 72, two degrees of temperature would send it up to 92.

However, very often an amateur nurse who finds the temperature is normal, feels that the patient is practically better, and that it is safe to get up and around.

Now in some illnesses, the pulse rate does not come down with the temperature, for the very good reason that the injury done by the infection to the heart muscle itself, was so severe, that it has failed to recover its full strength, and still requires the extra beats in order to do its work.

And if the temperature has come down to normal, that is to 98½, from 102½, and the pulse rate has been 72 plus 40, that is 112, ten for each extra beat, and yet it stays up to 92, you can see that the heart has recovered only half of its previous strength.

So for this reason the thermometer must not be used alone, but always with the rate of the pulse also.

I believe you will see my point. Your doctor, in fact every doctor in these days, is doing all he can to conserve the strength of the heart. And you can understand that if the pulse rate does not come down with the temperature, rest in bed is necessary until it does come down.

Company M boys were reported to have arrived safe and sound at Spartanburg.

Long-Life Trees
 The white oak, button-wood, white pine and hemlock are long-lived trees, says the American Tree association, and the poplars, willows, some cherries, and a few oaks are short-lived. Some of the sequoias of California exceed the 3,000-year mark, and the big cypress tree of Taile, growing in the state of Oaxaca, Mex., has been estimated from 4,500 to 5,000 years.

AUTO WRECKED AND WAGON, HORSE AND DRIVER HURT.

Modena, Oct. 13.—Blinded, it is said, by the lights of an approaching car, George Mathieson, driving a new Essex sedan, did not see a team of horses hitched to a heavy wagon and driven by Albert Griffen Monday evening on the state road leading from Newburgh to Plattekill and crashed into the wagon. The force of the impact was such that the wagon broke the back of one of the team of horses, hurling Albert Griffen from the seat of the wagon. In the car with Mr. Mathieson was his mother, who was cut with fragments of glass. She also sustained other injuries. Mr. Griffen was also injured. The car was completely wrecked. The Mathiesons were returning to their home here from a trip to Newburgh.

ASHOKAN.

Ashokan, Oct. 13.—Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Elmendorf and Mr. and Mrs. Burr C. Elmendorf are home from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Monroe French and Mrs. Angie Winchell at Delaware, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Atkins will leave Saturday for an indefinite stay in New York city.

Miss Genevieve Arnold and lady friend of Gunderland are visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Elmendorf, and other relatives and friends.

Mrs. Charles Davis and Mrs. Burton Christians and Marjorie spent Wednesday in Kingston.

"High Grade But Not High Priced"

French Chippendale Suite

"You Needn't Come For Me, Dick, I'll Meet You at the Corner!"

Ashamed of her home! Well, of course, she shouldn't be—but young folks are so sensitive and bank so much on first impressions.

So Anne goes to meet Dick at the corner, instead of having him come to her home for her.

Home is more than a place to eat and sleep and stay when there's no place else to go. Home is where the family welds itself together in one of those unbreakable units that life and years and distance cannot dissolve. Home is where acquaintances blossom into lifelong friendships. Where children grow up, where happiness dwells, where life is lived.

Too bad. It would take really so little to make that living room attractive. A new rug, a lamp or two, a good big inviting chair and perhaps one of those big davenports that beg you to sit down and relax and rest. Just these assembled with Anne's good taste—and she and Dick could have started off on a better basis than meeting at "the street corner."

Your home should come first. Beside the permanent and precious values that cluster about the home all other possessions are insignificant and valueless. First of all—a home. And after that, whatever else your fancy or your purse may dictate.

Baby Boy Drowns in Shallow Soup Bowl

Lord, N. J.—Roger Olivier, fourteen months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Olivier of No. 31 Mercer street, drowned in a large bowl of soup.

The soup was in a cracker bowl about one foot in diameter and six inches deep. The mother had placed it on the floor to cool while she went to a nearby grocery store.

The infant had been left on the kitchen floor and evidently crawled over to look at the steaming liquid. He fell in and was drowned before his mother returned.

Police Capt. Steven Nebenzel heard the mother's screams as he was passing and ran inside. Efforts to revive the child were unsuccessful.

END REVEALS FALL FROM HIGH ESTATE

Son of E. P. Roe, Popular Novelist, Dies in Park.

New York.—The life history of a man who inherited fame and fortune, lost both and for more than a decade held an obscure position as usher in a Broadway theater, stood revealed as the body of Murray Roe, fifty-three, lay in the morgue awaiting an autopsy.

Roe, designer of the Riverside drive viaduct above Grant's tomb and son of Rev. E. P. Roe, novelist, was found dead in a lonely section of Central park, the body propped between two rocks. A few dollars, a watch and some letters were all that the pockets of the cheap clothing contained.

After inheriting a considerable fortune from his father, Roe gained laurels of his own when, at the age of twenty-seven, he was appointed consulting engineer of the Riverside drive project. For his services, it was said, he received $75,000, an amount then considered quite large.

At the height of his success he married Miss Frances Doniphan Thornton in 1903 and the guests at the wedding included many persons of prominence. He was a prominent figure in New York social life until a year later. Word then came from California that his wife had obtained a divorce, and for several years his friends did not hear from him. It was said that he went to South America, where he lost both health and fortune.

In 1913 he returned, seeking employment. A job as porter at the Palace theater was offered and he quickly accepted. His diligence soon won him a place as usher and then post of best usher.

Physicians established that his death apparently was due to asthma. Friends advanced the theory that he had gone to the park and propped himself up in the secluded spot because his condition made it impossible for him to sleep while lying down.

Seven-Year Hunt for Lost Wife and Child

Los Angeles, Calif.—George Westbrook, United States marine, is the tragic hero of a seven-year Oriental Odyssey.

Through three lands of the Orient Westbrook wandered looking for his Spanish wife and six-year-old daughter, he explained in seeking letters of administration to their estate.

One evening, seven years ago, he came home to his bungalow at a lonely Philippine outpost to find supper on the table and his wife and daughter missing.

For a year he searched the Philippines. Then faint clues took him to China and India.

"I have searched the world over," he said when the court declared his family legally dead. "I do not believe my wife deserted me. I think the natives took her and she is dead."

Tossed by Mad Bull, Victim Has Revenge

Marshall, Ore.—Price Robinson, a Norway farmer, broke the neck of his prize bull when he fell across the animal's back after being tossed into the air. The bull, being led through a pasture, charged Mr. Robinson and tossed him high in the air.

Coming down upon the bull's back, Mr. Robinson was badly hurt, but the bull's neck was broken. Mr. Robinson is yet confined to his home.

MINE FIRE HAS RAGED 43 YEARS

Covers 50,000 Acres of Coal Land in the Hocking Valley.

Shawnee, Ohio.—A veritable mouth of hell is open in Ohio—perhaps the greatest fire on earth. From the hillsides one sees, as far as the eye can reach, thousands of miniature volcanoes belching forth ruin on a fair land. In the mouth of one of the many canyons the many stands and gazes far back into the earth and see the raging fire that has been burning since 1884. It has been eating out a rich vein of coal and devastating a region that was lavishly endowed by nature, says the New York Times.

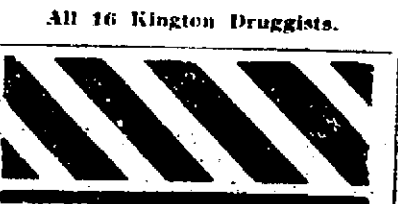

Forty-three years ago, during what is still known as "the big coal strike," when miners were holding out for more pay and were being beaten by the importation of strike-breakers from further south, the old Humber mine, located in Perry county, Ohio, between Shawnee and New Straitsville, was fired by angry strikers, along with seven other large mines. It was the climax of a series of riots and killings. That fire has spread over an area of almost 50,000 acres of valuable coal land, involving the whole of the Hocking Valley district, one of the richest bituminous coal districts in the country.

Tragedy Long Drawn Out.
It seems inconceivable that so great

A Resolution

To personal friends I will give the most personal of all gifts—my portrait.

Avoid the nerve-racking Christmas rush—arrange for a sitting in October or November.

The Pennington Studio
72-74 MAIN STREET.

a catastrophe could occur within the bounds of the United States without attracting wide attention. But the explanation is simple. It has so slowly and steadily progressed that it has become commonplace to the people who live near it. It is not even a topic of conversation, except when a series of fire breaks out near a cabin, forcing the occupants to hunt a new home. But such minor tragedies are too common to attract much attention in this land of tragedy.

And so, while sabotage has been thus dramatized on a tremendous scale for 43 years in the Ohio hills the public at large has known little or nothing of it. There are not many visitors in the great fire region, and today few outside of the immediate vicinity know that a great fire is burning under 64 square miles, fast consuming what is left of Ohio's richest coal deposit.

"Can't the fire be checked?" the layman who learns of the catastrophe always asks. The answer is an emphatic no. Several private fortunes and much public money have been spent in attempts to put out the fire and not the slightest impression has been made on it. The coal is of such rich quality and lies so near the surface that it has been impossible to halt the flames.

In one of the early efforts water was pumped underground for three years, but this only seemed to make the fire burn more fiercely. As the coal lies high in the slopes rather than deep in the ground, the water either runs off or turns to steam, with the result that large craters are blown in the hillsides.

The usual method of fighting a mine fire is to shut off the air and thus smother the flames. Here, however, when the thick vein of coal burns out the earth above it caves in. This opens deep fissures in the earth, through which the fire gets a new air supply. In rainy weather water runs through these earth cracks and the steam, forcing its way out, shoots the flames sometimes 50 feet into the air.

The coal in this Hocking Valley district averages about 1,700 tons a foot of thickness per acre. The average thickness of the vein is ten feet. To date, 64 square miles, or 40,960 acres, have been destroyed. On this basis, 693,320,000 tons of coal have been sacrificed.

The loss has climbed from millions of dollars into billions. And that is but the beginning of the story.

Constantly in Danger.

On the highway between Shawnee and New Straitsville at intervals along the brick paved road are sign boards warning that cave-ins may occur at any moment—and they do. Here and there a patch in the paving material tells where a cave-in caused the roadway to drop as much as ten or fifteen feet.

In the heart of this fire country dozens of men are opening up new passages to their small mines because the place worked the day before had become a seething furnace. These miners are playing a game with fate that makes ordinary mining seem like child's play by comparison.

On the hillsides rise geyers of steaming water. Great, red-hot fissures open in the earth through the blackened ruin of what was once a verdant forest. Through the valley runs a stream, from which, even in below zero weather, there rises a blanket of steam. Above the valley hangs a pall of white smoke, pierced here and there by the white tips of the tallest trees and the crests of the highest hills.

Bathed in Bathing Suits

The shortage of baths in big country houses of Victorian times was still more noticeable in the latter part of the nineteenth century. Mrs. Montagu, the famous "Queen of the Bath Stock," proclaimed with triumph: "My bath is ready for me, so tomorrow I will go in." But there was a difficulty. "Pray look for my bathing dress," she ordered. "Then I must go in in chemise and garter."

Miss Dorothy Gregory wrote from Edinburgh: "I had there a cold bath in the house. Miss Gordon thinks I shall do well to make use of it, but as I was not aware of such a thing being in the house I did not bring my bathing dress with me." In those days a cold bath was not a thing to be taken lightly or immediately. — Manchester Guardian.

Biblical Quotation

The expression "Eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot" occurs in Exodus chapter 21, verse 24; the same thought is also in Leviticus, chapter 24, verse 20 and Deuteronomy, chapter 19, verse 21. In the New Testament, Matthew, chapter 5, verse 38, it is quoted, with the Christian attitude toward it.

Billionth of an Inch

May Now Be Measured

New York.—An instrument which measures a billionth of an inch or a millionth of a degree of temperature is exhibited by the Bell Telephone Laboratories. It is the recently perfected development of L. D. Clark and was constructed to measure the minute contractions and expansions which wires of different composition undergo when they are magnetized.

The Clark instrument is approximately 100 times more sensitive than the interferometer, which employs wave lengths of light for measuring purposes. A change of one-thousandth part of a degree is sufficient to cause a spark to race across the measuring scale.

SANTO DOMINGO COLUMBUS LIGHT TO AID NAVIGATORS

Memorial to Great Ocean Navigator
May Become Aerial Beacon for Aviators.

Washington.—The Faro de Colon, or Columbus light, projected for erection at Santo Domingo as an imperishable memorial to the great ocean navigator, may eventually find its chief usefulness as an aerial beacon for aviators.

Definite plans for construction of the light are expected to take form soon, and some of the most distinguished architects of American countries already are showing interest. Discussion here indicates that some of the architectural projects will propose an aviation field in connection with the beacon tower.

Belief that there will be an extraordinary expansion of inter-American air routes in the next decade accounts for the present consideration of possible utilitarian as well as sentimental value to the light.

Enthusiasm for the Columbus memorial project here for some time regretted the fact that its rays would not be visible from the steamer path between Panama and Europe unless a tower of impossible height were erected to offset the curvature of the earth. It is pointed out, however, that from airplanes the light will be visible from vastly greater distances and its potential usefulness is thereby greatly enhanced.

Recently there was demonstrated at Charlottesville, Va., an improved searchlight, the powerful rays of which could be seen at a distance of 200 miles. Such a light, or one based on the same principle, will be helpful in aid of aviators. It is conceivable that the Columbus light may support its rays to a larger "cone" of the earth's surface than any other light in history. One suggestion for the light, believed likely to be accepted, is that its rays flash intermittently the date and dates of the Morse code for "C-O-L-O-N."

Financing of the memorial light, in which all of the American republics are to participate, is reported now to be in an advanced stage, with success assured, and the next step will be an architectural contest for designs. This will be a matter of extraordinary professional interest, as there will undoubtedly be rivalry between proponents of steel and stone construction.

Unearth Spar of Ship.

One of Perry's Fleet

Perry, Ohio.—A relic of a United States battleship believed to have been at one time a proud part of Commodore Perry's fleet which helped clear the Great Lakes of British frigates over a century ago, has been unearthed here.

It is a ten-foot wooden spar, bearing an inscription, "Perry, 1812." It was dug from a sandy bed along the shore of Lake Erie here recently by Pittsburgh and Cleveland business men.

L. A. Wells, Cleveland construction engineer, noticed an end of the spar protruding through the sand near the summer home of H. Fred Mercer, Pittsburgh lawyer. With the aid of J. S. Van Epps, Cleveland coal broker, they brought the spar to light from its bed where it evidently had rested for many years.

Perry is in the northeast corner of Lake Erie, and, although Commodore Perry's famous "battle of Lake Erie" was fought and won against the British at Put-in-Bay on the western end of Lake Erie, waste and drift from lake boats pile up along the beach here from all parts of Lake Erie.

Predicts Local Post Will Lead

Post State Commander Aaronowitz Predicts Kingston Post Will Be Pointed Out Next Year for Accomplishing the Most Good of Any State Post.

The American Legion Service Club held its third meeting in the Lexington Memorial Building Thursday night. After eating a pleasant meal, Legionnaires in their wheel and settled themselves comfortably to listen to Samuel Aaronowitz of Albany, past state commander, who gave an interesting talk concerning work of the American Legion.

George W. Potter, president of the organization, introduced Mr. Aaronowitz to the assembly and he received an ovation before he said a word. But after he launched into his speech the club was held in rapt attention throughout. Every word he uttered carried weight of importance to the Legion.

He expressed his pleasure at being able to address the local club on this occasion and said he was immensely pleased with the record Kingston Post is making. He predicted that at the Schenectady state convention next year, Kingston Post will be pointed out as the post that has accomplished the most public good of any post in the state.

He said that the organization of luncheon clubs in various posts has proved an important movement for the betterment of understanding and good fellowship among the members, and the meetings were the means of getting to know men.

Rochester Post formed their luncheon club with 25 members, he said, and the last time he visited there, the membership had increased to 650 members. It had expanded from one Post to include all posts in the county of Monroe and had become a county club.

There was much agitation by certain people against the convention being held in Paris, he said. This class of people said that Legionnaires would forget to conduct themselves properly and that there would be friction between the Frenchmen and the Yankees which would reflect unpleasantly on the American people. The Legion did not believe any such thing, and subsequent developments proved that the agitators' contentions were wrong.

He recalled that Harford McNider, past national commander, had said in one instance, "Certain people want to tell the Legion what to do. These people are the same ones who did nothing during the war but after the war was over they wanted to direct the activities of the Legion." McNider had said that he was "for" on having this class telling the Legion what to do.

President Potter, in thanking the past state commander for his address, brought out that the public as a whole in Kingston have always given the Legion full support in all their undertakings. He said he did not believe that there was any ill-feeling among the citizens of Kingston against the local Post.

An entertainment was then furnished by Bernard Healy, Charles Fawcett, Lester Elmendorf and Conrad J. Heselman. They said they were "much obliged" but the forms were greatly appreciated.

Red Cross Helped Almost a Million

More Persons Required Assistance From Red Cross This Year Than in Any Like Period in Country's History—Local Roll Call for Memberships Starts November 11.

Nearly a million persons, victims of 38 disasters, have received assistance from the American Red Cross during the organization's last fiscal year.

Throughout the civilized world, and especially in this country, floods raging over thousands of miles, fires destroying whole villages, tornadoes and hurricanes sweeping over entire states, and death-dealing explosions, combined to make the year one of unprecedented calamities.

Figures taken from the organization's annual report by local chapter officials show that more persons have required assistance from the Red Cross this year than in any like period in the history of the country. While the great Mississippi flood was largely responsible for this, the Red Cross was called on to give assistance following 76 other disasters in this country, in addition to 21 foreign catastrophes.

Tornadoes lead the list of American disasters for the last year with 28, and floods ran a close second with 21. Next on the list are fires which ravaged parts of 11 communities. The other disasters were miscellaneous catastrophes, such as hurricanes, mine explosions, hall storms, railroad wrecks and disease epidemics.

Two Outstanding Disasters

The two outstanding disasters of the year in which the American Red Cross gave aid were the Florida hurricane of September, 1926, and the Mississippi Valley flood of this year. In Florida, the organization expended nearly $1,500,000 for the relief of approximately 40,000 sufferers, carrying on a relief and reconstruction program over a period of five months.

During the emergency relief work in the flooded Mississippi Valley, more than 600,000 persons were aided by the organization in the eight affected states: Illinois, Kentucky, Missouri, Arkansas, Tennessee, Oklahoma, Mississippi and Louisiana.

A relief fund of approximately $17,000,000 is being administered by the Red Cross, of which more than $12,000,000 had been expended or committed at the close of the organization's fiscal year. An extensive reconstruction program is still under way there, and up to that time more than 90,000 families had been given rehabilitation assistance.

Three disasters occurred in New York during the year of sufficient magnitude to require Red Cross assistance, of which one was a railroad wreck at Calverton in which 9 were killed and 75 injured. A typhoid fever epidemic at Akron resulted in 24 deaths among the 414 cases of illness. At Baldwin an explosion killed 3 persons and injured 15, requiring Red Cross assistance for 75 persons effected by the disaster.

The eleventh annual roll call for memberships will be held November 11 to 24 and the goal set for the Ulster County Chapter is 5,500 members. Everyone in the county should be interested in this great cause and the membership goal should be reached before the expiration of the campaign.

State Baptists to Meet at Elmira

The one hundred twentieth annual meeting of the Baptist State Convention of New York will be held at Elmira on October 25, 26, 27. Meetings will convene in the First Baptist Church. With a constituency of 200,000 members within the state, an enormous gathering of delegates and visitors is anticipated.

Matters always vital in the expression of Baptist life and service will form bases of discussion and resolution. Evangelism, religious education, stewardship, missions and other historic Baptist ideals which have given vitality to the denomination and which explain its phenomenal growth and power will bring the many delegates from all parts of the state to a unity in the bonds of service and will energize them with a determination to return to their local church with a renewed challenge to propagate its beautiful and effective message of the redemption of humanity.

The motto in which the Convention gathers is "Enlistment of the entire membership for the entire task of the church." A comprehensive program has been prepared on this ideal of complete cooperation of all the forces for all the purposes of church administration.

With the opening day of the Convention, Tuesday, October 25th, the sixtieth annual meeting of the State Baptist Pastors' Conference convenes. The Convention will be preceded by a preliminary conference on Religious Education, to be held in the First Baptist Church, afternoon and evening of Monday, October 24. This will be invaluable to all interested in the technique and most advanced methods in the Sunday school, vacation school, week-day school of religion, evangelism in religious education, etc.

Webster Example of Great Man Misjudged

Daniel Webster was constantly accused of Intemperance. There is no doubt that he liked good living and was a connoisseur in wines and food. When a strong man dies of cirrhosis of the liver the suggestion of alcohol is likely to intrude itself. It was a drinking age, and Webster can certainly claim no special abstemiousness. But the charges that he appeared in public and spoke when drunk have never been proved and are just the sort most readily circulated and most easily believed.

Writing in Harper's Magazine Gamaliel Bradford says: "To me Webster's love of the sunrise and habit of five o'clock in the morning work are quite inconsistent with serious dissipation."

"I do not find anything in Webster's religion particularly discordant with his morals. He was a devout church member, frequently discoursed upon religious subjects, and always with gravity and infinite unction. I believe that he was perfectly sincere and that there was not a tinge of deliberate hypocrisy in all this.

"But I do not see the slightest evidence, that religion ever took profound hold of him either as a matter of agony or as a matter of rapture. I have an irresistible desire to class his religion with his politics. God offered an excellent parallel to the Constitution, and the Bible took the place of the Supreme court."—Detroit News.

There's nary a slip between the dress and the undies.

Paper Mill Waste

It has been the custom in the paper pulp making districts of Sweden for some years past to use white water—that is, the waste liquor from her numerous sulphite-paper mills—to lay dust on highways. This water has been found to be more satisfactory for this purpose than ordinary water, as it tends, on drying, to bind the dust and to make the roadway smooth. To still further add to its effectiveness, it has been suggested that a quantity of hygroscopic salt, which absorbs humidity from the air, be added to the white water so as to keep the surface of highways slightly moist.

Forehead Is Cracked

Virginia's mother was preparing the menu for dinner, and her forehead was wrinkled in a puzzled frown. "Mother," exclaimed the child suddenly, "what are you worrying about?" "Whatever made you think I was worrying?" the mother asked her. "Well, your forehead is cracked!"

PREFERS SEA TO COMMONS SEAT

Sir Guy Gaunt, British Vice Admiral, Lives on "Floating Flat."

San Juan, P. R.—From the house of commons, London, to Cocos Island, some hundreds of miles off the coast of Panama in the Pacific, is two thousand miles or so, but Cocos beats commons, in the opinion of Vice Admiral Sir Guy Gaunt. Cocos, in fact, is about the nearest thing to paradise on this earth, if you want to take Sir Guy's word for it, writes Harwood Hull, in the Chicago Tribune.

And Sir Guy has seen enough of this world to know and form his own opinions. Having been at sea much of his life, it was to the sea he turned for rest after years of war strain and when he found that being a member of parliament wasn't exactly a hell day.

For almost two years now he has been at sea on a remodeled lumber schooner which he has christened "Four Winds." He calls it his floating flat. He is still at sea and may be indefinitely.

Has Chinese Crew.
Starting from Puget sound early in 1925 Sir Guy headed down the Pacific coast. With a Chinese crew he has been much of the time on his 500-ton schooner. He is his own skipper and navigator. Eventually he sailed to Cocos Island, about 300 miles west of Panama. There he lingered many months and although he has sailed all the seas and visited most of the known places on the globe, Cocos seems to hold the greatest fascination.

"I wish Gaunt was British ambassador," So Col. E. M. House wrote back in 1918, of Capt. Guy R. Gaunt, naval attaché at the British embassy, Washington, according to his "intimate papers."

The Captain Gaunt of whom Colonel House then wrote is now Sir Guy Gaunt, a vice admiral, scarce past fifty and retired these ten years. Instead of commanding a fleet he spends most of his time on his "floating flat." When it was a schooner it was named the Eric. Sir Guy bought her at Vancouver, cabled his secretary to dismantle his London flat and send out his belongings. He then started in to remodel the schooner, building his floating flat to accommodate his belongings and treasures. For weeks at a time he is the only white man aboard the Four Winds. At other times he has guests a plenty.

For almost two years Sir Guy has been sailing before the four winds. Coming through the canal, most of the last winter and spring he spent in the West Indies and Central American ports. In May and June he visited Porto Rico, sailing from San Juan for Havana to dry dock before going on to Venice.

He has not written his memoirs; he says they couldn't be published, not for 50 years. But Ambassador Page and Colonel House speak of him in their memoirs and rate his activities most highly. As "Poor Old Gaunt," he is known to intimates, at least, as "Pop."

After the war Sir Guy was in the house of commons.

Goes to China for Crew.

Sir Guy has a crew of 22 Chinese, and he went all the way to China to get them. The Four Winds is a 500-ton vessel, 114 feet over all and 38 feet beam. "Something substantial under your feet, don't you know," he says. He has installed electric lights, running hot and cold water, an ice plant, built in four bedrooms 18 by 18 feet, installed four baths and provided most of the comforts and refinements one would find in an exclusive apartment. In the lounge is a large fireplace and below in the hold there are several cords of firewood.

Sir Guy has collected many birds and has them in a special compartment which he has screened off from one end of the lounge. Other pets are about the schooner, including a Mexican squirrel.

Out on deck and lashed securely under a heavy tarpaulin is a motor which, when Sir Guy puts in port, can be swung off the ship. One of his Chinamen puts on chauffeur's livery, and there you are.

The Four Winds goes under sail most of the time, but there are two engines that will give her seven knots an hour. There is storage for 25,000 gallons of fuel and the engines use about a gallon a mile.

Fishing in the Northwest, hunting wherever game may be, a few days ashore for a little golf or motoring, then on to another port—Sir Guy seems to have no more of a schedule than that. Except, now, his most definite objective is Venice this fall.

Running away from home in Australia at ten, Sir Guy was in the British merchant service before he entered the royal navy. He sailed out of Liverpool on merchantmen and was a second mate at eighteen. His rise in the navy was rapid. In Samoa in 1909 he hoisted the American flag after it had been lowered supposedly by rebels. He was advanced for that.

Not Like a Dog

New York.—Everett Prepper of Redcliff, N. Y., stood before the bar in a Brooklyn court. He was charged with beating his daughter, Alice, four months old. His wife charged Prepper had said the child had refused to smile at him.

Halo Weather Forecast

Since halos occur in high thin clouds of small ice crystals, and since such clouds occur on the forward side of a widespread storm, or cyclone, it follows that rain or snow usually occurs within a day or two after a halo is seen.

Slave-owning Negroes

A great many negroes owned slaves prior to the Civil war. It was quite customary for a negro man on attaining his freedom to purchase his wife, children or other relatives and in this way in effect become their absolute owner.

Effect and Cause

It is said that more men than women commit suicide. This is because the men have all the things to worry about that the women do and then have the women to worry about besides—Hudson Star.

Grounds for a Wedding

A film actress has remarried her first husband. The chief reason, we understand, are that they were acquainted with each other and happened to be free at the same time.—London Opinion.

Ants' Peculiar Work

Parasol ants, which are natives of Trinidad, cut off circular pieces of leaves and carry them into their underground nest, to be used in building up mushroom beds. A colony of these ants is installed in the London zoo.

Phillips Carlin At Victory Ball

The American Legion feels certain that they have secured a great drawing card for the success of the Victory Ball in the armory. Arrangements for the ball will be on hand to take general charge of affairs as master of ceremonies.

To those who are familiar with the introduction and announcements of "The Man in the Silver Mask," the Silvertown Cord Orchestra, or the Happiness Candy Boys, (the "candy" tenor and the hon-ton baritone) which he nicknamed Billy Jones and Ernest Hare, the voice of Phillips Carlin is a source of real enjoyment. Among many of his friends he is known as the "Orator of WEAF."

Carlin is a product of New York City. He showed his gift for oratory early in life by carrying off the stellar honors in elocution at Public School 55 and later in the debating contests at DeWitt Clinton High School in New York City.

At New York University, he won high honor in that subject and in addition specialized in languages. He was graduated with a degree of A.B. and decided to try the silk business. This career was terminated when he joined the navy at the outbreak of the World War.

After the war he tried salesmanship for a time, but when an opportunity presented itself of joining WEAF, he accepted, as he knew it would give him an opportunity to use his training in oratory.

Carlin has become an announcer whose neat introductory speeches that precede the various celebrities that are about to broadcast are eagerly listened for by his audience. When he was assigned the announcing of the popular Silvertown Cord Orchestra, which is heard through WEAF every Thursday evening from 10 to 11 p. m., he conceived the idea of putting an added touch to their program by playing a set of castanets during the rendition of a Tango number by the orchestra. It proved so popular with his audience that they expressed their delight by letters to the genial announcer.

With always a smile in his voice, Phillips Carlin has become one of the most popular radio announcers in the United States.

The Oldest Tune

The oldest tune in the world is said to be "For he's a jolly good fellow." There are those who declare that this tune was brought back from the East by the Crusaders, and that the ancient Egyptians learned it from the Babylonians. This idea was apparently first suggested by Chateaubriand, who heard Arabs singing what he took to be the tune. The idea is scouted, however, in authoritative dictionaries of music. A more likely circumstance connected with the tune is that, put by the French to their satirical song, "Mabrouk sen va-t'en guerre," it was the only tune that Napoleon could remember and sing.

Another Problem

A farmer, visiting his son's college and wandering into a chemistry class, saw some students busy with retorts and test tubes.

"What are you trying to do?" he asked.

"We're endeavoring," replied one of the students, "to discover or invent a universal solvent."

"What's that?" asked the farmer.

"A liquid that will dissolve anything," replied the student.

"That's a great idea," agreed the farmer. "When you find it, what are you going to keep it in?"

Merely War Slogan?

Myths attaching to vivid words born of stressful moments are numerous. The years of the World War produced a great many. Fact became fiction and fiction fact in the effort to sift chaff from wheat. Did Kaiser William ever refer to England's troops as a "contemptible little British army?" A few newspapers in 1914 carried the information that he did, but later investigation failed to authenticate the rumor. It was finally put down as just one more war slogan.

Understanding

Most of life's troubles come from misunderstandings. If we know each other we shall understand each other; if we shall understand each other we shall trust each other; if we trust each other we shall work together in unity of purpose; if we work together in unity of purpose there is nothing worth while which we cannot accomplish.—David H. Blair.

BOY'S BODY WAS COVERED WITH SEVERE ITCHING RASH

Skin now without a blemish

Bethel, Maine, July 13:—"About seven years ago my nephew developed a severe case of skin trouble which looked like eczema. His face, hands and whole body were covered with the trouble and his skin became raw from scratching. Many soaps and ointments were tried without success before Resinol Soap and Ointment were prescribed and used. The first few applications stopped the itching and soon he was entirely healed. He now has the loveliest skin I ever saw and, thanks to Resinol Soap and Ointment, no unsightly blotches mar the beauty of his complexion." (Signed) Vivian M. Eagle, Vernon Street.

FREE: If somebody in your family is tortured by eczema or some similar disorder, let us send you a free trial of Resinol Soap and Ointment. Write Dept. 63, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

HUMAN EMOTIONS FOUND IN "DATE BOOK" OF STORE

Entries in Appointment Book Read Much Like "Personals" in Newspapers.

Portland, Ore.—On a dull afternoon when the imagination requires stimulation it is interesting to visit a department store and read the "appointment book."

There one may run the gamut of human emotions. At best this is possible in Portland and its vicinity of the Pacific Northwest, with its pioneer background and New England complex, probably doesn't differ much from any other.

Who uses these "appointment books" and what are they?

Every one uses them and they are ledgers which were first installed for convenience of shopping shoppers who, incidentally, wanted to leave a message for the "boy friend" or for a "girl chum."

Users of the ledgers, or "appointment books," range from gray-haired grandmothers, irritated by their first false teeth, to scented-lipped granddaughters, about equally annoyed by misplaced mascara. But women haven't a monopoly. Scribbling in the books also will be found the gangling youth, struggling with his first long pants and cigarette, and hard-bitten business men and lawyers.

And what does one find? Everything, from tearful prayers to profanity, from domestic problems to love-making—bits of tragedy, exasperation, a laugh here and there and other exhibits of the weakness of the spirit and flesh of mere mortals. It is commonplace for the most part, but one also finds intense feelings striving for an outlet in the written word.

Just a few samples memorialized from the pages of a Portland "appointment book" follow:

"Where the hell you been? Waited all afternoon." Probably a husband—tone indicates married at least 10 years and the chances are that a 15-minute wait is what he classified as "all afternoon."

"All is forgiven. Go home to your little woman. Don't forget the baby's clothes." Now isn't that a rare combination? Ranging from the threat of a broken home, and then flying upward to the possibility of a glorious reunion but dropping to drab domestic affairs in the next breath.

One can almost see a well-meaning man doing his best for a pair of friends. Too many movie titles had used that "all is forgiven" phrase to permit him to pass it up. Next he told the story, clear and concise, informing some erring male that no rolling-pin barrage awaited him. And then came the jolting reminder of duty—"don't forget the baby's clothes."

But the crowning message of all, causing one to wonder whether dealers in moonshine are using the "appointment books" is the following:

"That gin was awful. Turned both my plates to chewing gum. Can't you do better tonight?"

And so it goes, page after page—some of which seem almost to have been jotted down solely for the amusement of readers.

Hungarian Dance Is Like the Charleston

Berlin.—Anybody who can dance the Hungarian czardas should automatically be able to dance the American charleston; in the opinion of Ellen Richter, Hungarian movie star.

"The movements of the legs, the slapping together of the knees, and all the other distortions, which, if executed gracefully, are decidedly beautiful, are about the same in both the czardas and the charleston," Miss Richter observes. "Of course, there are rhythmic differences. Then, too, the czardas, even in its simplest form, is a figure dance, which the charleston is not."

State Praises Kingston Clinic

Success of Diphtheria Clinics Here Receives Praise From State Health Department—Commissioner Nicoll Congratulates Health Officer Connolly.

The current issue of Health News, the official publication of the New York State Department of Health, says:

Under the direction of the health officer, Dr. Daniel Connolly, the city of Kingston on the afternoon of September 23 held its first diphtheria immunization clinic. Every agency in the city requested to do so assisted. While the actual work of administering toxin-antitoxin was done by several practicing physicians, other members of the local medical profession have agreed to carry on the work at three subsequent clinics.

Twelve hundred and fifty-two children were immunized at the first clinic of which 352 or more than 30 per cent were under five years of age. The estimated total population of Kingston under five years of age is 2,059. Eighteen and one-half per cent of these highly susceptible children are now on the way to immunization to diphtheria.

If some of the more populous centers of the state would emulate Kingston's activities we would be getting closer to our goal—the eradication of diphtheria in New York state. What Kingston, a city of 28,000 can do, can be done just as easily by the larger municipalities. In appreciation of Dr. Connolly's work, the State Commissioner of Health wrote him as follows:

"September 28, 1927.
"My Dear Dr. Connolly:
"I have just received an outlined report of the results of the first T-A clinic held at the state armory, September twenty-third. May I express to you my congratulations on the success of this preliminary campaign as well as my appreciation of your excellent work as health officer in directing it.
"Very sincerely yours,
"M. NICOLL, JR., (Signed)

Matter of Retaining

Youth, State of Mind

Youth is a quality, a spiritual energy, and properly speaking there is no old age, but spiritual decay. "The less we prompt to meet the morning dawn" is no valid evidence of growing old, any more than to lose a leg in battle. Fussy physical activities are not the only tests of youth. Richard Le Gallienne comments in Harper's Magazine. The brain of Sophocles which gave us the greatest play at ninety, is more to the point, as also that famous saying recorded of him, in reference to the cooling of the passions with the years, that to grow old was like being set free from service to a band of madmen.

Because we grow wiser and stronger, less selfish and generally more useful to our fellows with the passage of the years is not to say that we have lost our youth. It only means that we have learned how to employ it. We do not run in every direction as we did. We know a little better what we are doing, or what we want to do; but the motive force that enables us to do it is that same energy which once drove us to make fools of ourselves at the beginning, and still provides the same "swift means to radiant ends."

Decay, disillusion, weariness; we mean these things when we speak of "growing old." But we fail to realize that these are no necessary accompaniments of the years. We may, unfortunately, inherit them, or acquire them, like bad habits, or through neglect of a proper care and exercise of our spiritual selves. Spiritual and intellectual laziness makes most people "old before their time." If we lose interest in life, life will soon lose interest in us; and it is just as possible to achieve a precocious senility in the twenties as at any later period of our lives.

Important in Life Is

"Trade" of Parenthood

Parenthood is a difficult trade and should be studied; it is as much your business as your wife's to learn all you can of child nature; of things to be done and avoided if your experience with your child is to be a mutual blessing and a mutual delight. Is the admonition voiced by John P. Garitt, in Children's Magazine.

If you think your own elders made certain mistakes in dealing with you it was only because they did the best they knew, never having studied this most difficult trade of parenthood.

Begin now, during the babyhood of your child, to be his companion, chum and pal. It will reflect in your relationship with him in the years to come. While it is important, in a way, what you think of him, it is more important what he thinks of you; he will know you better than you know him, for one of the most essential preoccupations of every child is the study of his parents. Largely upon the intelligence with which you carry on your new job will depend the happiness and success of your son or daughter.

Bonaparte Heart Won

by Baltimore Beauty

Jerome Bonaparte, youngest brother of Napoleon, became the husband of an American woman, because of a bit of old lace, thus bringing the Napoleonic strain to America. Jerome sought refuge in America from English pursuers on the high seas in 1803 and, at a reception in New York, met the girl with whom he was to have an unhappy romance. Not without intention, it is believed, the rare old lace on the gown of Elizabeth Patterson, a beautiful Baltimore woman, became entangled on a button of Bonaparte's coat. Introductions followed and Bonaparte went to Baltimore to pursue his courtship. Later he married Miss Patterson and the young bride followed her husband to France. She was not allowed to land, however, and she went to England, where a child was born. Meantime Napoleon annulled the marriage, placed the erstwhile husband on the throne of Westphalia and forced him to marry a German princess. Though the validity of her marriage was subsequently attested by the pope, Elizabeth Patterson never saw her husband again.—Woman's Home Companion.

English Writer Has

Contempt for Laugh

Men and women laugh because they are happy or amused. This, at least, has been the universal theory; but a London psychologist comes forward with the self-contradictory theory that the really happy man never laughs and that the unhappy man cannot laugh. According to this authority, the laugh is a hideous grimace, the smile alone being beautiful and permissible. It all depends upon who does the laughing, whether it is beautiful or comparable to the snarl of the hyena. Perhaps it is because we are so used to laughter, thanks be unto infinite wisdom, that these dicta will strike most of us as the twaddle of a seeker for notoriety. It is true that there are all sorts of laughter, some of it unpleasant and some aroused by a sense of the ludicrous, but in its more welcome sense the word betokens harmless merriment and a reflection of the charm and beauty of living.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

Why does the dirtiest question in the kitchen have to be solved by the use of a dishcloth? The suggestion is to use a piece of the old, that is, a dishcloth.

FOODS TO ENJOY

A little dish is the following: Mashed potatoes, one onion into two cups of water and cook in two cups of milk. Add a cup of butter and a cup of sugar. Remove from the fire and add one cup of milk, the same of salt and a dash of cayenne. Add one-half cup of sugar, three-fourths of a cup of milk, two well-beaten eggs and one-fourth cup of vinegar. Add three-fourths of a cup of gelatin to two cups of water and when dissolved add to the above with one can. of salmon which has been carefully flaked. Fill individual molds and serve with.

Orange Sweetbreads.—Steamer a pair of sweetbreads covered with boiling water with a slice of lemon or teaspoonful of vinegar and a slice of onion and salt to season. Parboil for 10 minutes or more, then drain and plunge into cold water. Remove all the pipes and membrane and cut the sweetbreads into slices and cook in hot fat until lightly browned. To the pan add one tablespoonful of butter, blended with one of flour; to this add one cup of chicken or veal stock and cook until smooth and thick. Season with scraped onion, a dash of red pepper, the juice and grated rind of an orange (small one) and one teaspoonful of lemon juice. Remove the sweetbreads to a hot serving dish and pour the sauce around them.

Grilled Calves Liver.—Make small slits with a sharp knife in the liver and insert sliced onion and two ounces of bacon to two pounds of liver. Brown three tablespoonfuls each of fat and flour, add the liver and roll until well seared in the fat and flour. Place in a hot casserole, add sliced carrot, a bit of bay leaf, salt, one-half cupful of strained tomato, a cupful of hot water or stock and bake two and one-half hours.

Grapenuts mixed with enough melted chocolate to coat them, served with a bit of cream, make a nice dessert for the children, or an emergency dessert for the grownups.

Corduroy is introduced for Sports Wear, and is Especially Well Received in Yellow and Greenish-Yellow Tones.

New York.—Among the interesting materials that have been revived this autumn is corduroy. One feels that it was bound to reappear, for anything that feels like or resembles velvet has at least a chance of social acceptance. Corduroy suggests itself for sports, and in all sorts of pleasing colors, including canary yellow and an indefinite beige that the French have dubbed natural. News of this color kept the cables humming from Biarritz, where yellow corduroy made its bow to society.

Corduroy has, in common with velveteen, the quality of delightful color. Tulle is one of the new shades in which it has been admired, which leads one to believe that yellows and yellow-greens are or par-

Advance Style in Fur Coat for Winter Wear

Showing one of the most advanced styles in fur coats for winter wear for the fashionable woman. It is made of Hudson seal fur and selected fitch for the collar and cuffs.

Reddish Browns Among Favorite Fall Colors

Interesting new combinations have been selected from the color spectrum launched in millinery and outer apparel for fall. Some color preferences change in mid-season, but others continue in their steadfastness, as women reiterate their approval by repeated selections of the variants of a certain color range. Such has been the case with the beige and brown shades. The vogue for these combinations carried through into the orange groups in some of the floral georgettes and prints has shown steady growth.

In millinery circles shades of blue have been introduced into early fall lines. As its companion the gray costume, or variations subtly combining the bluish grays and gray-blues become a favorite choice with the blue hat.

Illustrative of the blending of the blue-grays, a pale bluish gray is much in evidence. Another gray with a stronger touch of blue also is favored. A darker version of this same group is effected by the addition of more blue to the gray.

In the collection of colors mentioned by one of the couture houses is a dark beige shade closely resembling brown and tinged with a touch of red. This reddish brown note seen in many of the new fabrics for fall, coupled with the rich copper shades, offers a gamut of autumnal colorings that readily will replace, it is believed, that somber black worn during past seasons. White black will have its sponsors, the beauty and luxuriousness typified in the newer colorings, and weaves are expected to create renewed interest in costumes of glowing colors, carefully subdued.

To give accent to gray, green is introduced into this color, producing shades often bordering on olive in covert cloths. Deep blue added to gray gives the Oxford shade shown frequently in street frocks and suits a favorite for fall. The violet shades have presented a veritable shower of delicate and entrancing hues. These range from a light violet shade to a soft dark violet hue. A reddish tint added to a real violet shade is lovely in sheer fabrics.

Evening Bags and Shoes Are in Kids to Match

Evening slippers in pearly kidskin and satin are enhanced by new ornamental strap effects of rhinestones. They are found either in colors or in plain white brilliants and fasten to the slipper by means of a patented clasp at each side. They are far newer than buckles and ever so much more youthful.

The smartest evening bags are fashioned of pearl luster kidskin to match the newest evening slippers. Plain silver and gold kid bags are showing a noticeable decline.

Petal Hats of Velvet, Winsome Paris Fashion

A helmet hat entirely covered with velvet petals is one of the most popular of the new millinery offerings. Lewis designs the hat which, in the brimless style, is fitted very low over the ears.

Velvet petals cover the crown and are bunched over the ears. The hat has been copied in various colors for some of the most smartly dressed women of Paris. It was first worn during the Grande Semaine at the Autocell races.

Black and Red Jersey Outfit

Made of jersey in black, with red and gold colored stripes, a costume consisting of sweater, plaited skirt and coat is just the thing for fall wear.

A Rose Tweed Ensemble is Developed With a Rose Lustrous Blouse Embroidered in Contrasting Colors. A Slight Flare is Featured in the Skirt.

Particular interest, a fact one should bear in mind when planning a southern wardrobe, for what Beauville and Biarritz applaud, Palm Beach accepts. Blue must also be kept in mind, for while many blues are worn at the moment, they are of a distinctly different character from those which have been worn abroad all summer for sports.

Several Paris houses show their belief in corduroy by exhibiting models in this sturdy fabric. These run the gamut of colors, including gay tones and such neutral ones as the previously mentioned natural. There is a general feeling that corduroy may replace velvet for sports coats; it is newer, and is a bit more youthful to boot. There is, however, no fabric at the moment that has a more enviable position than tweed. It makes the great majority of smart sports ensembles.

Forty Hours At St. Peter's

The devotion of the forty hours before the Blessed Sacrament exposed, as an act of expiation and honor, and that peace might ever reign within the church, will be held at St. Peter's Church on Sunday, October 16, and the two following days.

On Sunday morning at 10:30 the service will commence with a solemn high Mass followed by the school children's procession and the singing of the Litanies. This and the closing exercises are expected to be attended by every parishioner.

During the day the children and members of the various church societies will observe their hours of adoration in order. On both Sunday and Monday evenings there will be a public devotion with sermon by one of the Redemptorist Fathers and solemn benediction. Monday and Tuesday mornings the Blessed Sacrament will be exposed at 6 o'clock. Holy Communion will be distributed at 6, 7 and 8:30, at the same hours when Masses will begin. The school children and those not prevented by business are requested to spend hours of adoration in the church so that there will be a good number present the whole day.

An opportunity to go to confession is afforded on Saturday, Sunday and Monday afternoons from 4 to 6; Sunday evening from 7:30 to 9; Sunday and Monday evenings before and after the devotions. All are reminded that confession and communion are necessary to gain the indulgences.

The solemn closing will occur on Tuesday at 7:45 p. m., with the great men's procession, in which every man of the parish is expected to be seen giving profession of his faith and honoring the Blessed Sacrament. Solemn benediction and singing of the Te Deum will end the services.

A special meeting of all the members of the Christian Mothers' Association and the Children of Mary will be called at the school hall on Monday after the closing services. The purpose of the same will be to make plans for a large parish reunion in November. Any men of the parish who will lend their valuable assistance are also asked to come to this meeting. Everyone, therefore, who is expected at the school hall on Monday night will kindly arrange to go to confession before that evening so that the calling of the meeting will not be delayed.

URGES SUNDAY CLOSING LAWS BE OBSERVED BY BUTCHERS.

In an effort to secure a better observance of the Sunday closing laws, the New York State Association of Retail Meat Dealers has sent out an appeal to the mayors of all cities in the state, offering the cooperation of its membership in enforcing the act, which provides for the closing of meat shops on Sunday.

In its letter to the mayors the association points out that the act which was passed by the legislature in 1913 is poorly observed by meat dealers in many places; a condition which is working a decided hardship on the more law-abiding butchers.

Legion Drive To Start at Once

Membership Campaign to Be Conducted by Thirteen Teams in Kingston in Expectation That 700 Members Will Be Secured.

The membership committee of the American Legion met Thursday night and completed plans for a vigorous drive for members. The drive will start immediately instead of October 17 as was formerly planned.

Thirteen teams have been organized, one for each ward, headed by a captain. They will conduct a house to house drive in the campaign in which it is hoped to interest all ex-service men in the work of the Legion and its clubhouse.

It was pointed out that the fee for joining the Legion was very small in comparison with what a Legionnaire gets out of it. The American Legion monthly magazine is sent free to each member. The world's best writers are among the contributors and the best stories obtainable are published in it.

Legionnaires will find a source of enjoyment in the privileges of the beautiful Memorial Building, once they get the habit of coming around. Card games, a pool room, lounging room and plenty of good literature are among the things which members may enjoy. A new expensive radio has also been bought.

The committee is making a drive for 700 members and every ex-service man will be urged to join. It was pointed out by Mr. Aaronowitz, past state commander, that it was a great privilege to be eligible for membership in the American Legion and every ex-service man should find his place in the work of the organization.

Pastor Installed At Port Ewen

The installation of Rev. Philip Goertz as pastor of the Port Ewen Reformed Church took place Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the presence of a large audience.

The services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Bedford of Bloomington, clerk of the Classis of Ulster. The Rev. Robert E. Wick of Jamaica, L. I., a former pastor of Mr. Goertz, preached an eloquent sermon. The Rev. Wilbur F. Stone, pastor of the Church of the Comforter of Kingston, gave the charge to the pastor. The Rev. Dr. Lucas Boeve, pastor of the First Dutch Church of Kingston, gave the charge to the people. The benediction was pronounced by the newly installed minister.

At the close of the installation service, an informal reception was tendered Mr. Goertz. The Rev. Mr. Goertz's parents of New York City and also relatives and friends from Alwood, N. Y., were present.

The congregation was glad to welcome former members of the church, J. Eugene Seor, Mr. and Mrs. Bartman H. Houghaling, Mrs. Irving Morwin and Mrs. John Lampman, Jr. of Kingston.

The Rev. Philip Goertz is a graduate of Amherst College and Princeton Theological Seminary.

Crime Board Plans Drive Against 'Fence'

New York.—To reduce criminal activities, the "fence," or receiver of stolen goods, must be abolished, Richard Washburn Child, chairman of the national crime commission, says.

With this idea in mind, the commission will submit to a general conference to be held in Washington the last week in October a uniform law, to be presented to the legislatures of all states which is designated to place a heavy penalty upon receivers of stolen goods.

Maxwell S. Mott, general counsel of the National Association of Credit Men, a member of the commission, placed the annual loss to the country through the activities of the "fence" at $200,000,000.

"Old Women" Accorded Place as Physicians

Benjamin Franklin related a story, which was recorded and preserved by Thomas Jefferson, which throws a curious light on the doctors of his day, the Pathfinder Magazine recalls.

"When I was in London," said Franklin, "there was a weekly club of physicians of which Sir John Pringle was president, and I was invited by my friend, Doctor Kothergill, to attend when convenient. I happened to be there when the question to be considered was whether physicians had, on the whole, done most good or harm? The young members, particularly, having discussed it very learnedly and eloquently till the subject was exhausted, one of them observed to Sir John Pringle that though it was not usual for the president to take part in debate, yet they were desirous to know his opinion on the question. He said they must first tell him whether, under the appellation of 'physicians' they meant to include old women; if they did he thought they had done more good than harm; otherwise, more harm than good."

Best Gift of All

Surely there are few among us—not one, I hope—who fail to find a great deal of enjoyment, true and unadulterated, in making others happy. Happiness is a rather peculiar thing. You know—in that the more of it we give, the more we have, while the more eagerly and persistently we seek it for ourselves, the less we have or the surer we are not to find it. That marvelous bluebird, emblematic of happiness, is shy, elusive and not to be caught with the craft of selfish-seeking. But just get busy "doing something for somebody, quick," adding your mite to the world's store of gladness, and see what happens: In an instant you glimpse the flutter of blue wings, as happiness settles down in your heart to stay.—Kansas City Star

Ordination at Mt. Tremper

The ordination of Berlin Charles Rose to the Christian ministry and his installation as pastor of the Shokan Reformed Church is to occur on the evening of Wednesday, October 26, at 7:30 o'clock, in the Mt. Tremper Church. The president of the Classis of Ulster, the Rev. C. V. W. Bedford, is to preside and read the form; the Rev. Dr. F. B. Seeley is to preach the sermon; the Rev. Dr. Lucas Boeve is to give the charge to the pastor and the Rev. John B. Steketee is to give the charge to the church. This service will mark the formal beginning of the pastorate of Mr. Rose. He had been in charge of the Christian work in these churches for four years. Last General Synod of the Reformed Church granted him a dispensation. For two years he has been an elder in the Shokan Church.

Ossining Tigers May Down the Yellow Jackets

Most Eleven Composed of Former College Players May Take First Fall Out of Local Grid Team—The Probable Line-ups for Sunday.

The Ossining Tigers are expected to clash with the Yellow Jackets Sunday at 3 p. m. on the Fair Grounds. The Yellow Jackets are expected to be harder than any other team ever to stack up against the Tigers. The Yellow Jackets are prepared for the attack and are set to bring the preying Tigers in order to keep their record clear of defeat.

With the Tigers composed of grid players who correlated their knowledge of the platoon sport in colleges and with prolonged performance in the semi-pro game the Yellow Jackets will have one of the toughest jobs on their hands yet assumed. The Ossining boys have cleaned up in the lower section of the Hudson and have been waiting for some time to get a crack at the Kingston representatives from whom they have heard in most favorable manner for over a year. Their spirit is set started in the winning class here is one assurance of a real football contest Sunday for no team is able to take a game from the Yellow Jackets without the utmost effort.

The Yellow Jackets along with keeping their slate free from losses have been scored on but once. The team lucky enough to score a touchdown against the locals was the West Point Artillery, an eleven with much time to practice the game and with good coaches. The Yellow Jackets have been working strenuously in their night practices and have perfected a number of puzzling plays besides improving the manner of play by every individual. They are probably in the best form since their first appearance on the gridiron.

The probable lineups for Sunday's game are:

Ossining Tigers	Yellow Jackets
Dawson	L.T. Harry Scheffel
Manwaring	L.T. Earl McNamee
Ryan	L.G. Sammons
Schatzel	Center Len O'Reilly
Merney	R.G. Bill O'Reilly
Brong	R. Bill Clarke
Stewart	R.E. Rice
Red Ker	R.E. Hoffman
Marino	R.H.B. Hasbrouck
Erwin	L.H. Stan Colvin
Fagin	F.B. Johnny Clione

Substitutes: Yellow Jackets—Ches. Carroll, Howard, Rose, Dann and Millican. Ossining Tigers—Donno, Risco, Jackson, Smith, Reilly and Dunn.

Tilden Will Revive Play.

Los Angeles, Oct. 14 (P)—William T. Tilden has temporarily deserted the tennis courts for another day at the stage, an announcement that a local theatre said that "Big Bill" could revive his New York stage play "They All Want Something" for an indefinite run starting October 23.

World Series Players' Melon

Chicago, Oct. 14 (P)—Checks totaling $239,449.67, representing 170 slices of the greatest world series players' melon in baseball history, have been mailed by Commissioner Landis to the champion New York Yankees and the second, third and fourth place teams of the American and National Leagues.

The Pirates have not yet decided how to divide their pot of $111,843.35.

The Yanks split its $167,765.65 into 27 full shares of $6,195.02 each, including Manager Miller Huggins and Coaches Arthur Fletcher and Charley O'Leary.

The Athletics and Cards, runners up in their leagues, divided $29,558.05 each. The Athletics split their pot 25 ways, $1,182.32 to a man, and gave $59 to "Baby Doll" Jacobson, who came to the club late. Twenty-seven Cardinals received $1,033.03.

Rabbit Maranville, veteran shortstop, Fred Frankhouse, rookie pitcher who won five straight games, and Ernest Orsatti, young outfielder, each received $244.35.

The third place Senators and Giants received $19,972.04, the former dividing their share 25 ways, $655.73 to a man. Twenty-five Giants received $782.22. The Cubs in fourth place, $9,936.02 in 21 shares of $473.62, but boys receiving $100 each. The Detroit Tigers awarded 28 shares of $332.87 each.

QUINTETS ORGANIZING FOR COMING SEASON

Practice session will no doubt be held in the near future by the Young Judeans and Red Shield basketball players for both organizations plan to have quintets ready for court action when the season opens. The Salvation Army representatives organized several days ago and Thursday the Judeans work their plans for their court form this year.

The Young Judeans with five of last years stars in line plan a successful season. Vic Alcon, captain of the quintet, supported by Bahl, Perlman, Frier and Ballinck, point collectors last season, should make a good showing in representing the Young Judeans. Their ability with coaching by Dan Joyce Red Shield star and valuable pointers assist in coaching should help greatly.

The Red Shields have the same lineup as last year and with experience gained on courts in all sections of this state and New Jersey where they took the bacon from teams of high repute the Salvation boys will in all probability have the Indian, and the surrounding territory. Joyce, Merritt, Knight, Smith, DuBois and Hyatt will again be in the line-up.

Four Big Grid Games Saturday

Notre Dame-Navy, Yale-Brown, Penn-Nittany Lions and Fordham-New York University Head Important Games Saturday.

New York, Oct. 14 (P)—Four big battles on home sectors give added sparkle to an imposing gridiron array on eastern college front to-day.

Knute Rockne's Notre Dame eleven invades Annapolis to face the Navy. Brown renews hostilities against Yale at New Haven. Holy Cross comes to grips with Harvard at Cambridge. Penn State clashes with the traditional foe, Pennsylvania. And New York U. tangles with Fordham in the nearby metropolitan classic at New York.

Both Yale and Brown are nursing setbacks of a fortnight ago but the outdigs are still more rankled by the 7 to 9 defeat handed out by the Bruins last season. With the crack Johnny Hoben back at quarter after being laid up with injuries following the Georgia game, the blue hopes for revenge have risen once more.

The Crimson will counter a heavy aerial attack expected from Holy Cross with a like offensive. For the past two years the Cambridge outfit has taken a back seat to the Worcester eleven. The purple registered a 15 to 14 victory last season.

Penn is on edge for the classic with the Nittany Lions on Franklin Field. Coach Lou Young has all his players in excellent physical condition for the fray with Penn State. Hedrek and his warriors arrived at the Quaker city from State College this morning and camped at the Philadelphia Cricket Club. Penn triumphed in the last meeting of the teams by 2 to 0.

In the New York district the annual struggle between New York University and Fordham is continued. Last year the Maroon gave way by 27 to 3 but Fordham holds the big end on the series with five triumphs and two defeats.

With intersectional flavor furnished at Annapolis, Knute Rockne, has a strong eleven of three year men to charge against the Middle. The Navy had a long drill yesterday that continued after dusk, necessitating play under arc lights. Ingram plans to start Captain Hannegan, Bauer and Clifton in the back field against Notre Dame.

Coch Roper expects a hard battle with Washington and Lee. Last year, the Tiger was held to a 7-all tie. Jack Norman was out of the Princeton lineup in practice yesterday because of a slight injury but he will be in form by tomorrow.

There was a gloomy outlook at Dartmouth as seven players will not be available for the Temple game, including two of the varsity backs, Black and Harris. Coach Heine Miller is taking a squad of 27 to Hanover.

Just who Coach Hauser plans to start against Columbia remains in the air. The Lions have had an easy schedule up to now and the fray with the Hamilton team should serve as a good test for both elevens. Davis and Elkins College treks from West Virginia to engage with the Army at West Point. The cadets do not anticipate any difficulty and will have a punting and forward passing attack to present against the Senators.

LaFayette stopped off at Uniontown, Pa., for a practice session today enroute for the scrap with the University of West Virginia at Morgantown.

Practice was conducted secretly at Syracuse yesterday in preparation for the meeting with Georgetown. Coach Andrews sent the squad through a three hour drill of offensive and defensive formations.

IMMANUELS TAKE OPENING MATCH

The Immanuel bowling team started the alley season in good form by snatching two contests from Pete Keresman's Puddle Jumpers at the Immanuel Lutheran bowling alley Thursday night. The Puddle Jumpers were unable to get a firm foundation until the third game when they dropped the pins for an 802-797 tally over the Immanuels. The Immanuels took the first two contests 553-753 and 520-719. Al Studt copped the high scoring honors for the winners while Rels of the Puddle Jumpers registered most for his team.

Third Woman to Swim Channel

Dover England, Oct. 14 (P)—The number of successful English Channel swimmers was raised to fourteen when Mrs. Ivy Gill of Sheffield, landed at Shakespeare Beach, near here shortly after midnight this morning, the third woman to perform the feat in less than a week.

Mrs. Gill, 34-year-old typist and only recently a bride, started from Cape Gris Nez, France at 9:11 a. m. yesterday and landed on the English coast at 12:20 today. She was exhausted at the finish of the long grind, and her first words—reaching shore were: "I can't stand."

Her manager, trainer and boatmen who accompanied her announced that they were ready to sign affidavits as to the authenticity of the swim.

Her time of 15 hours 9 minutes is one hour 53 minutes slower than the record for women claimed by Dr. Dorothy Cochran Logan, (Mona McLellan) of 13 hours 10 minutes, and is 28 minutes slower than the mark of 14 hours 31 minutes set by Gertrude Ederle.

ST. STEPHEN'S ELEVEN DOES NOT REPRESENT THE COLLEGE

Kingston High School gridgers are priming themselves for Saturday's game with an eleven from St. Stephen's College, Annandale-on-Hudson, which is a voluntary eleven formed by the students. The team does not represent the college on the field. Coach Lou Young has all his players in excellent physical condition for the fray with Penn State.

Many of the students at St. Stephen's are interested in football and to satisfy their desire to contest with teams they have been allowed to form elevens under the direction of St. Stephen's College Athletic Association. Whatever coaching is done the members of the team, familiar with the sport from high school days, probably do themselves.

Coch Kias is putting his men through some stiff drills every night and Kingston High School students and football fans of this vicinity may feel certain that the locals will harness all energy to register a win.

JACK DELANEY MEETS JACK RENAUULT TONIGHT

New York, Oct. 14 (P)—Jack Delaney, of Bridgeport, Conn., former light heavyweight champion of the world, will endeavor to bolster his standing in the heavyweight division tonight in a ten round go at Madison Square Garden against Jack Renault, late of Hollywood.

Both boxers hail originally from the province of Quebec.

Period of Growth

Not all trees begin to grow at the same time. Some begin early in spring, while others delay starting their growth until late April or early May, says the American Tree association. The first black cherry starts about the wild of April, while the tulip tree or yellow poplar does not begin until late in April, and the Norway spruce waits until early in May.

Defends Work of Methodist Board

Dr. Wilson Declares Methodist Board of Temperance Will Continue Forever Ongoing to Support Greater Moral Reform.

Martin, Tenn., Oct. 14 (AP).—Existence of the Methodist board of temperance, prohibition and public morals was defended here today by Dr. Clarence True Wilson, corresponding secretary, who warned its critics that it would continue "forever onward to support the greatest moral reform of the Christian century."

Addressing the annual Tennessee conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church (north), Dr. Wilson expressed surprise at "the number of good people deceived by propaganda against the church having anything to do with civic matters and the claim that the board's presence in Washington is 'an invasion of the rights of other religions, if not a violation of the first amendment to the Constitution'."

"We may place it upon record now as well as at any time that the presence of our institution in Washington can be misapprehended and the justification of its existence depends entirely upon what it is trying to do," he said.

"I do not know one sincere and earnest Protestant, one loyal and self-sacrificing American patriot, one law-abiding citizen who is interested in prohibition and the promotion of public morals who has ever raised any objection to our existence or to our location in the nation's capital."

Crew of American Girl Proceeding

Katherine E. Davis, sociologist, called her adventure "a mistaken thing for a young girl to do." Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, civic leader, criticized the needless risk involved, and Winifred Sackville Stoner, founder of the League for Fostering Genius, expressed her preference for good typists to Ruth Elders and Gertrude Ederles.

IMPROVEMENTS AT SPRING STREET LUTHERAN CHURCH

The members of the Spring Street Lutheran Church are pleased to note that repairs of different kinds have been made recently. The front church doors have been grained, with the lower church front painted also. The church vestibule was also beautifully painted.

Repair work on the exterior of the parsonage is now going on.

The Junior Luther League presented the church with an ornamental electric pulpit lamp, which will not only be of service to the preacher, but will also save the lighting of the large chandelier, the glare of which has always been annoying to the congregation.

Paid Two for No Substantial Work

Mrs. Knapp this system of bookkeeping on which she insisted," the witness was asked.

"Yes," she answered, adding that she had asked Mrs. Knapp to give her amounts of payrolls. Mrs. Knapp, said Miss Little, asserted that she would do so "some time."

"But I never got them," declared the witness.

"She kept putting you off from time to time?"

"Yes."

Miss Little testified that she kept the traveling accounts of the census supervisors and said that some of them were "pretty big."

Says Mrs. Knapp Signed

Miss Little testified that she had seen Mrs. Knapp sign the name of Mrs. Luella V. Ninde, who was census supervisor for Onondaga county, to Mrs. Knapp's expense account and that Mrs. Knapp had signed the necessary affidavit before Miss Little, acting as notary. The witness declared that this had "frequently" been done.

(Checks in payment of Mrs. Ninde's expense accounts were given by Miss Little to Mrs. Knapp, who usually endorsed them, sometimes in her presence, with Mrs. Ninde's name, the testimony continued, were returned to Miss Little to be cashed. Miss Little said she cashed them and handed the money over to Mrs. Knapp, who put it in her desk or pocketbook.)

Alexander Otis, New York city attorney, who is representing the former secretary of state at the hearings, objected to the questioning.

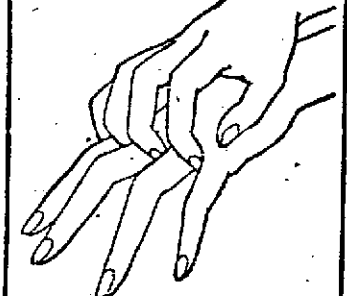

"I must protest this method of procedure—putting answers into the witnesses' mouth," he exclaimed.

"Mr. Otis, you are out of order," replied Le Boeuf, who at the first session yesterday announced that inasmuch as the inquiry was directed against the conduct of the census rather than against any individual, he would not consider it "appropriate" for representatives of any persons mentioned in the testimony to take the floor.

Ellenville, Oct. 14.—The annual inspection of fire equipment was made here Wednesday, October 12, and Fire Chief C. G. A. Fischer was pleased with the results. ## Industrial League Prizes Presented Officials Entertained at Dinner at Golden Rule Inn, When Prizes for Individual Playing During Past Season Were Awarded to Players.

The Industrial League baseball officials met Thursday evening to partake of a banquet at Golden Rule Inn which proved to be one of the most heartily enjoyed occasions of the season. Considerable business was transacted and another meeting will be held the third Thursday in March.

The party arrived at the inn at 6:45 where they were greeted by President Charles A. Warren of the Industrial League and complimented for the fine spirit in which all contests were presented last summer for the pleasure of the fans who visited the Athletic Field. The ball players were escorted to the dining room where all enjoyed the delicious banquet served in admirable style by a corps of efficient waiters.

President Warren was the host, and from his position at the head of the table spoke in very fitting manner concerning the Industrial League and its bright prospects for the 1928 season. Secretary Louis S. Coe of the organization also addressed the gathering as did Pete Jordan, umpire of the contests played this summer. In the talks given the West Shore railroad nine, winners of the league championship, were praised for their prowess on the diamond. Each player will receive a gold baseball in the form of a watch chain for his efforts.

Prizes Presented.

Prizes were presented to the players who gained recognition by their individual playing during the Industrial League period of activity and the following received awards: Steve Connelly, Schillings, highest standing in batting percentage, $5 in gold. Connelly's record is games played 12, AB 40, R 10, H 21, Pct. .525. Ralph Williams of the West Shore received $5 in gold for registering nine doubles; Snyder of the same team was given a new hat for hitting the greatest number of three-base hits. Jack Robins of the Post Office City nine carried off the honors of being leading batter in the few games that he played. He was tied with Snyder for registering triples and received $5 in gold.

The prizes were donated by S. Cohen's Sons, A. W. Mollott, C. A. Warren and the Chamber of Commerce.

Officials of the Industrial League present were President C. A. Warren, host; Vice-President Louis S. Coe, Manager E. G. Banks of the West Shore; Manager Joseph P. Long and Kenneth Kennedy of the U. & D. Cornell; Manager Carl Glaser of the Apollo-Universal; Manager Harold Olsen of Palens; Manager Hubert Martin of Schillings; Peter Jordan, league umpire; John Hartman, official scorer, and employees of C. ### Early Wine Making

The actual making of wine in ancient times does not appear to have differed very much in principle from the methods obtaining at the present day. Plastering appears to have been known at an early date and when the juice of the grape was too thin for the production of a good wine it was occasionally boiled down with a view to concentration. The first wine receptacles were made of skins or hides treated with oil or resin to make them impervious. Later, earthenware vessels were employed, but the wooden cask, not to mention the glass bottle was not generally known until a much later date.

Strange

A Scottish professor had returned from a long walk and his feet were very sore. He was told the best thing to do was to bathe them in hot water. This he did. Then in the ordinary course of events, he proceeded to dry his feet. He dried one foot, then, with the slightest regard as to what he was doing, put it back in the basin. He then proceeded to dry the other foot, which he also redipped in the basin.

This went on for some time. Then he began to get puzzled.

"Good gracious!" he muttered at last: "I didn't know I had so many feet."

Inhuman Affiliation

Comparchism was the name adopted by a nomadic affiliation famous in the Seventeenth century in Europe. This band of persons made a practice of buying and selling children. These children were by means of surgical operations deformed and disfigured so that they assumed certain peculiarities which provided the humor demanded at the time. The organization had in its own laws, oaths and formulas, and was found principally in England, Spain, France and Germany. The name is a compound Spanish word meaning buyers of little ones.

Believe Marines Held by Bandits

Two American Marine Corps Aviators Are Believed To Be Held By Bandits In Northern Nicaragua.

Managua, Nicaragua, Oct. 14 (AP).—Two American marine corps aviators who disappeared while on patrol duty in northern Nicaragua are believed to be held by bandits.

Second Lieutenant E. A. Thomas of Richmond, Ind., and Sergeant Frank E. Dowell of Carbondale, Ind., were patrolling the Quilicura district in the department of Nueva Segovia, when their machine crashed and burned near Monte Chapote.

The crew of another patrol plane said they saw both men run from the wreckage of the plane. Attempts to reach them however, were frustrated when a rescue party was attacked by about 350 bandits.

In the severe fighting which followed four members of the Nicaraguan national guard were killed. The patrol cut its way out with difficulty but was forced to return to Managua without locating the aviators. Further search by air was fruitless.

Times Change

The candidate dropped into town in the old driver he teamed about in the country districts in order to show that he did not feel above the common herd.

"You don't expect to get any votes here, do you?" questioned one of the party managers.

"Yes. Why not?" replied the surprised pol.

"Well, the fellow that's runnin' ag'in yer dropped down on us yesterday in an airplane and explained that he called on his way to Paris and our folks give him a dinner."—Portland Evening Express.

Breaking an Egg

The slightest tap against a hard surface is usually sufficient to break the shell of an ordinary egg. If, however, pressure is exerted gradually at each end of the egg it is often impossible to break it with the bare hands.

The United States bureau of standards recently decided to find out just how much pressure would be required to break an egg in this manner. A pressure of 51 pounds had to be exerted on the testing machine before the shell of an egg gave way.

Real Fresh

He had dined in a restaurant far to the north of New Orleans and felt that the excellence of the meal merited some praise.

"The finest steak I've ever tasted," he told the proprietor.

"It ought to be," was the somewhat disconcerting reply, "for it came from one of the finest two-year-old Jerseys in this section; you'd never have had steak from her if she hadn't collided with an automobile yesterday morning."

THE FLOWER HE MISSED

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

MANY the songs they sing you,
Many the flowers they bring you, mothers of men.
But think, if you see and know,
There is a fairer blossom, though,
Just a daisy of long ago,
Mothers of men.

Once from a wilder garden, mothers
of men,
Asking your praise and pardon, mothers of men,
Came a child with a little daisy,
Bearing a daisy, that you kissed,
Just a daisy that the reaper missed,
Mothers of men.

Soon will our blossoms perish, mothers of men,
But there is one you cherish, mothers of men,
Never long will the flowers last,
Flowers wither and fade so fast,
But there is one that the reaper
passed,
Mothers of men.

One you will wear in heaven, mothers
of men,
One in our childhood given, mothers
of men,
Once a child with a little daisy
Brought you a daisy, that you kissed—
There is one that the reaper missed,
Mothers of men.

SAWS

By Viola Brothers Shore

FOR THE GOOSE—

THE difference between a successful marriage and an unsuccessful one is often no more than the difference between a good sport and a martyr.

Bein' a good sport don't mean puttin' up with everything. It means reducin' the things you gotta put up with to a minimum and then bein' game about them.

Husbands appreciate good sportsmanship just as much as they appreciate any other good quality—that is to say, they think it's comin' to 'em.

FOR THE GANDER—

Women used to ask themselves—
"I wonder if he'll try to kiss me?"
Now they ask—"I wonder when?"

If you gotta fight with a woman, fight with everything you got. It's only after a good war that you can expect peace.

However, holdin' your peace is worth three times as much as makin'
it. The Philistines wasn't the only people that was put out of business by the jawbone of an ass.

Do You Know That:—??—

THE phrase to "bury the hatchet" came from our own Indians. It is an allusion to a command given to the North American Indians by their "Great Spirit" when they smoked the peace-pipe to "bury the hatchet," war clubs and scalping knives in the ground so that all thought of enmity might be buried out of sight and so out of mind.

To "bury the hatchet" has now come to mean a desire for friendliness and a wish to end the strife and enmity.—Anna S. Turquist.

GIRL GAGS

"The radio must have been known longer ago than is generally supposed," says Antiquarian Anne, "else what did they mean when they spoke of making Rome howl?"

Left Biddy Lonesome

A sitting hen at East Hampton,
Conn., did a motherly task for 15 eggs for three weeks. The eggs were in a quail's nest uncovered while Albert Saltus was mowing. Michael Dailey lent the hen and eight chicks were hatched. Biddy took the family for a walk and Mother Quail appeared, called the eight little ones and disappeared with them in the woods.

Other Man's Shoes

Among ancient Norwegians, when a man adopted a son, the person adopted puts on the shoes of the adopter.
The phrase, "To stand in another man's shoes," means "to occupy the place or lay claim to the honors of another."—Literary Digest.

Search for Girl In Cleveland

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—Rochester police have forwarded to the city and school officials of Cleveland, Ohio, a description of Doris Naers, nine, alleged to have been kidnapped from a school near Rush N. Y., by her foster parents, from whom she was taken by local authorities last spring. The move brought to light the story of a spectacular kidnapping.

Doris had been placed in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gree in East Rush five months ago. On September 30 the girl ran into school, saying to her teacher: "The man who used to be my father is after me."

It is alleged that the man entered the building, carried the girl to a waiting automobile in which a woman was seated, and speeded away. The car was traced to the Cleveland and Buffalo docks in Buffalo, and there the clue ended. It is believed the trio took the boat to Cleveland.

Garden Idea Fostered

by English Merchant

In a friendly in the center of 120 down, the mother of gardens came to existence many years ago, known to the Christian Science Monitor, was at Hitchcock's, the well-known bookseller and publisher, in 1910. John Hitchcock gathered his friends together and unfolded a plan to foster and encourage every branch of horticulture and to "educate every person respecting the culture and treatment of all plants and trees."

The founder of the House of Hitchcock and John Hitchcock, was in sympathy with every project that made for good and enlightenment of mankind. It was a suitable place for the mother of many affiliated societies to begin its work with operations. The room where the first meeting was held no longer exists, as the building has been rebuilt since that time. In the comfort of the new building, the select nature of the society, the windows facing the street and the wooden seat that in summer time is placed in front of them carries one back to a time when the rush and noise of the London streets was less than at the present time. There is an air of leisure and otherworldliness that is very pleasant to those passersby who long to forget the hurrying feet and noisy sounds of crowded thoroughfares.

The society did not receive its royal charter till 1901, which set forth that its aim was the improvement of horticulture, ornamental as well as useful. Well has it carried out its resolutions.

Mountain Is Crumbling

Rock Spring, Wyo.—Slowly crumbling and losing its tremendous rock slides, a large mountain, 110 miles north of here, has stirred tourists with its phenomenal movements. Millions of tons of earth and boulders have tumbled into a canyon below the rocky giant. Nearby, Freemont Lake, with huge deposits of rocks in its bed from the slides, has overflowed and another lake is being formed. The mountain is approximately 10,000 feet above sea level.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 14 (AP).—Marking up of the call money rate from 4 to 4 1/2 per cent, coincident with the calling of about $15,000,000 in bank loans, checked a promising rally in today's stock market. Early gains ran from 1 to 7 points, and were distributed over a fairly broad list. Withdrawals of government funds in anticipation of four Liberty loan interest payments tomorrow, are believed to be responsible for the temporary stiffening of money rates. The day's business news was rather colorless in character. A few slight increases in steel mill operations helped to revive speculative interest in that group but steel common was one of the first to sell down in the early afternoon reaction. General Motors also yielded to pressure after an early display of strength, but Hudson, which has been weak for a few days, rallied briskly on short covering.

Public utilities turned heavy when heavy offerings appeared in American Telephone, Jewel Tea and Lambert advanced to new high ground. Coppers were firm on talk of higher red metal prices. Private dispatches from Tulsa, Okla., stated that directors of the Prairie Oil and Gas Company had passed the quarterly dividend of 50 cents.

Heavy accumulation of Erie common, which advanced 3 points in the early afternoon, started a brisk buying movement in the eastern coals. Chesapeake Corporation, Pittsburgh and West Virginia and Jersey Central also sold 2 to 3 points higher.

Standards Are Poultry Need Necessity Arises Because Large Consuming Centers Are Widely Separated.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

Standard grades of poultry products understood and applicable in all parts of the country are needed in all parts of the United States Department of Agriculture, before the World's Poultry congress at Ottawa, Canada. This necessity arises because of important areas of production and the largest consuming centers are widely separated. The United States Department of Agriculture has studied this problem in its relation to eggs and has promulgated a set of standards of quality applicable to individual eggs, the quality factors being the condition of shell, yolk, germ and size and condition of air cell.

Standards as Basis. With these standards as a basis, said Mr. Stocum, the department formulated three sets of egg grades: Buying grades, wholesale grades, and retail grades for use at country buying points, in wholesale channels, and in retail channels of trade. A study of standards and grades for live and dressed poultry has been started with a view to issuing them in the near future in tentative form.

For maintaining a standard uniform quality in different markets and for settling disputes concerning grades, the department has established inspection facilities, permissive, not compulsory. These inspections are of two kinds: Shipping point and terminal market inspection. When shipments are ready for movement, the inspection enables the shipper to describe the quality to prospective purchasers. After arrival at the market, inspection is used to settle disputes to determine the grade and condition of the commodity.

Live poultry inspections are being supervised in one market, New York City, with an annual requirement of 12,000 cars, an approximate value of $60,000,000, practically all of which are now inspected by a supervisor and 11 licensed inspectors. Egg inspections are made in New York City, Chicago, Philadelphia, San Francisco and Petaluma, Calif., and three points in Missouri.

Three Distinct Arrangements. There are three distinct arrangements under which inspection services are operated: Straight federal inspection, federal-state inspection, and joint inspection. Under each arrangement, the appointment of supervisors and inspectors, and the kind of certificate issued conform to conditions of type of inspection.

Financing the inspection service also conforms to the arrangement under which it is operated. In federal inspection, fees collected are paid into the United States treasury and are not available for further inspection until appropriated by congress. In federal-state inspection the fees collected by the state are placed in a revolving fund from which salaries of inspectors and other expenses are paid. In joint inspections, the fees collected by the co-operating agency are used for salaries of inspectors and other expenses, including payment into the United States treasury of an amount equal to that expended by the department.

Less than three years ago egg inspection was begun by the bureau of agricultural economics and that of live poultry only last November, yet in December, 1925, 579 egg inspections, involving over 50,000 cases of eggs were made, while during the same month 1,171 cases of live poultry were inspected and 5,514 baskets of live poultry received by express.

Experiment With Trees

An attempt is being made to select the most viable of seedlings for forest planting by exposing the little trees to electric light. Those which absorb the most good out of the light by growing most under it qualify as the superior stock. This method may improve the nation's trees hereafter.

Present-Day Almanac Traced to Old Greece

For back in the days of antiquity Greece it was the custom to announce the first day of the month either through a herald or through a post on the walls. These "postals" were known as "heliophanes" or "heliophanes" from the Greek word "heliophanes" meaning "sun-shower". The basis of the almanac is a calendar of the year was known as a "heliophanes" or "heliophanes" from the Greek word "heliophanes" meaning "sun-shower".

Tracing back the origin of the modern almanac, Versteeg, the famous astronomer, says: "Our ancient Saxon ancestors used to engrave on certain squared stones about a foot in length, sometimes more, sometimes less, the courses of the moon of the whole year, whereby they always certainly tell what new moons, full moons and changes should happen, as also their festival dates; and such a carved stick they called 'almon-acht'; that is to say, almon-need, to wit, the regard or observation of all the moons, and hence is derived the name almanac."

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

Afternoon and early evening reception from WGY, WJZ and W2XF was perfect and of unusual volume, marred only by the new crop of bloopers that always appears when the radio trade picks up in the fall. If new owners of sets could be prevailed on to refrain from turning on the whole works and then twisting the dial there would be no bloopers. Perhaps if some of the dealers and their demonstrators could be converted to the use of common sense in this respect they might reach their new customers how to operate a radio without becoming a nuisance. But some of the worst are the "expert" demonstrators who never can be made to realize that a big noise is not good reception.

Western stations were weak but the south and southwest were good, as proved by WSB, WSM, WRC, WLW, WSAI and the New York and Philadelphia stations. A few Chicago stations whispered and between 9 and 10 o'clock some static developed. WPG ran all the way up the dial until met and overcome by KDKA. For a time there was a general tendency to spread.

The addresses at a banquet, commemorating the 150th anniversary of the surrender of Gen. Burgoyne and his forces to General Gates, will be broadcast by WGY and WHAZ Monday evening, October 17, beginning at 9 o'clock. The banquet will be held at the Victory Mills Casino which is on the ground where General Burgoyne made his final stand in his retreat, prior to his surrender. Governor Alfred E. Smith will be the toastmaster and the principal address of the evening will be delivered by Dr. Albert Bushnell Hart, professor emeritus of Harvard University. The banquet is sponsored by the Saratoga Historical Society.

INVENTIONS

To prevent sending false alarms a fire-alarm box of German invention sends a rattle instead of a signal if tampered with.

A perforated spoon with a hinged cover has been invented for holding tea while it is being brewed, or for melting chocolate.

Germans have invented a "dodging canoe," seating two persons that can be rolled into a bundle four feet long by six inches in diameter.

A new type of bifocal spectacle lens is free from the color fringe that appears in ordinary lenses where the change in curvature occurs.

A chemically-treated metal ring, heated until red hot by an alcohol flame in a new device, quickly purifies the air in a room filled with tobacco smoke.

Designed to induce sleep, a German physician has invented a device operated by clockwork that produces a monotonous humming sound for about 40 minutes.

Insertion of keys from the outside into locks on hotel-room doors is prevented by a new device to be inserted by the occupant of a room and removed only with a key that he carries.

SAYS THE OWL

Yes-men are aggravating, but the incorrigible no-man is as bad.

What was the rough channel of a reform many years ago is today's rut.

People who are the last to hear the gossip, hear the most elaborate story.

As a rule, a man doesn't want to be "accomplished" in anything but his business.

Man who "wants to get away from it all," better consult the state of his finances before he runs.

It is almost as easy, sometimes, to endure bad health as to do the things necessary to recover good health.

Every one wishes to be sophisticated but after he has attained that end, he mourns the loss of his earlier innocence and artlessness.

Success is not in luck or money or hard work or circumstances or economy or mere popularity. It is in knowing how—a gift from heaven.

MUSINGS

A bee and its honey are soon parted; and that's its reward for industry.

If you don't save up for a rainy day, you will have to borrow an umbrella—at high rates.

When trying to decide whether it is better to keep still, give yourself the benefit of the doubt.

WOMAN ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY

Mrs. Medill McCormick, of Illinois, wife of the late Senator McCormick, announces that she will run for Congress on the Republican ticket.

(Harris and Ewing)

WORDS OF WISE MEN

Pity swells the tide of love.—Young.

They can conquer who believe they can.—Virgil.

Manners easily and rapidly mature into morals.—H. Mann.

A wise man is never less alone than when he is alone.—Swift.

Secrecy is best taught by commencing with ourselves.—C. Simmons.

To be trusted is a greater compliment than to be loved.—Macdonald.

Speech is a faculty given to man to conceal his thoughts.—Talleyrand.
